1st def co-development project deal with Japan

Agreement to upgrade the Comprehensive Economic Partnership

INDIA and Japan on Thursday elevated their global strategic partnership with a twin push on defence manufacturing and economic integration, signing their first-ever defence co-development project while agreeing to upgrade the Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA), as Prime Minister Narendra Modi described “unbreakable mutual trust” as the bedrock of bilateral ties.

The two sides also unveiled a roadmap on economic security, supply chain resilience, clean energy and biotech following the 16th India-Japan Annual Summit between Prime Minister Modi and his Japanese counterpart Sanae Takaichi.

“Today, we have signed an agreement on the first co-development project between India and Japan in the defence sector. This project for a naval radio antenna will open a new chapter in our defence technology partnership,” Modi said.

The pact relates to the Unified Complex Radio Antenna (UNICORN) project, a next-generation naval communications system designed to provide secure and reliable communications for warships.

The joint statement said both PMs welcomed the conclusion in principle of the remaining technical issues on UNICORN and agreed to explore additional defence equipment and technology collaborations. Modi welcomed Japan’s review of its principles governing the transfer of defence equipment and technology, which New Delhi sees as opening new avenues for industrial collaboration.

Both leaders also agreed to modernise the India-Japan Comprehensive Economic Partnership Agreement (CEPA), which came into force in 2011 but has come under scrutiny over its limited benefits for Indian exporters.

“Upgradation of the CEPA pact and review of its provisions were discussed….whether the agreement has become outdated in light of newer trade arrangements,” Foreign Secretary Vikram Misri said.

Sources said India has sought a review of several non-tariff barriers, particularly Japan’s stringent sanitary and phytosanitary (SPS) standards, which have constrained Indian exports despite preferential tariff access. “The global trade landscape has evolved considerably since 2011, and India has conveyed its interest in reviewing aspects of CEPA,” a senior government source said.

The summit also produced a Joint Roadmap on Economic Security, under which the two countries will strengthen supply chain resilience in strategic sectors including semiconductors, quantum technologies and advanced materials.

Widening trade deficit

The CEPA review assumes significance as India’s trade deficit with Japan widened over the past decade — from $5.18 billion in 2015-16 to $15.4 billion in 2025-26. During the same period, imports rose to $21.43 billion, while India’s exports increased only modestly to $6 billion

7 crushed in boulder fall at B’luru quarry

RAKSHITH GOWDA @Bengaluru

SEVEN workers were killed, five others were injured and four escaped unhurt when a massive boulder crashed on them while they were loading crushed stones onto a tractor at a stone crusher unit in Huluvenahalli village, Tavarekere, on the outskirts of Bengaluru, on Thursday morning.

The police have arrested four persons, including the owners of the two adjoining quarry units.

Five of the victims were from Madhya Pradesh, one from Yadgir in Karnataka and another from Chhattisgarh.

Following the incident, social activists alleged that they had alerted the authorities about a month ago that quarries in the locality were operating without the mandatory No Objection Certificate (NOC). They said had the authorities acted on their complaints, the tragedy could have been averted.

Deputy Inspector General of Police (Central Range) S Girish, who visited the spot, told reporters that the incident occurred around 7.30 am in Tavarekere police station limits. “There are two adjoining quarries at the site, an upper quarry and a lower quarry, owned by two individuals. Workers were carrying out routine activities at both locations. While workers at the upper quarry were reportedly breaking boulders using an excavator, it is suspected that vibrations and existing cracks in a massive boulder caused it to become dislodged and roll down, crushing the workers in the lower quarry,” he said.

A worker at the site said the massive boulder rolled down from a height of nearly 100 feet from the upper quarry before crashing into another boulder and plunging nearly 60 feet onto the workers and four tractor-mounted compressors in the lower quarry. Seven workers were trapped beneath the boulder, while several others, including an earthmover operator working in the upper quarry, sustained injuries after being struck by flying rocks.

Fire and Emergency Services Department personnel retrieved the seven bodies from the debris using two earthmovers in a rescue operation that lasted nearly two hours.

The officer said 16 workers were present in the lower quarry at the time of the incident. Of them, seven died, five were injured and four escaped unhurt.

“Unfortunately, the incident occurred because the workers were close to the boundary between the two quarries. We will verify all documents, permits and licences with the Department of Mines and Geology, and take further action,” Girish said. CONTINUED ON: P2

K’buragi riots: HC stays order to withdraw eight cases

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Thursday stayed the order issued by the state Home Department on May 27 to the Prosecution Department to withdraw eight criminal cases with serious charges booked by the Aland police in Kalaburagi district over the 2022 riots that occurred on a dargah premises.

A division bench of Chief Justice Vibhu Bakhru and Justice KS Hemalekha passed the interim order staying the impugned order challenged by advocate Girish Bharadwaj.

The petitioner alleged that the cabinet decided to withdraw the cases despite the prosecution department stating three times that there are sufficient materials to prove charges beyond doubts.

It was alleged in the petition that the then Speaker of the Karnataka Legislative Assembly UT Khader requested the Home Department to withdraw the cases, in response to the representation submitted by the Managing Committee of Dhargha Hazrat MalikulMashaikh Makhdoom Ladle Ansari (Sunni). P7

Can’t force Hindu prayer in school: HC

EJAZ KAISER @Raipur

IN a major development concerning the secular character of public education, the Chhattisgarh High Court on Thursday made it clear that school children cannot be forced to recite Hindu prayers in government-run educational institutions.

The ruling was delivered by Justice Amitendra Kishore Prasad on a writ petition challenging the constitutional validity of a circular issued by the State School Education Department on June 12. A controversy erupted after the BJP-led Chhattisgarh government issued the fiat mandating daily recitation of Vedic mantras, including the Gayatri Mantra and Saraswati Vandana, in all government schools from the new academic session.

The legal challenge was filed by former Chhattisgarh Waqf Board Chairman Abdul Salam Rizvi, alongside Mahendra Chhabda and social activist Shafique Ahmed.

The state government informed the court that the actual implementation of the administrative circular had not yet begun in any school so far.

Taking note of the government’s submission, Justice Prasad disposed of the petition. However, the court left the door open for petitioners to approach it again if any child is compelled to participate in the religious recitations.

Russia buying Indian gasoline? Not directly from OMCs: Minister

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

PETROLEUM Minister Hardeep Singh Puri on Thursday denied reports that Indian refiners are exporting gasoline to Russia, saying none of India’s public or private refiners are currently shipping fuel to the country. The minister, while speaking to the media, said that any Indian-origin fuel reaching Russia could have been traded through intermediaries rather than sold directly by Indian companies.

The clarification came after media reports claimed Russia had imported seaborne gasoline from India to meet domestic demand after Ukrainian attacks disrupted its refining facilities. According to reports, at least 60,000 metric tonnes of gasoline have already been dispatched from India, while another report said two tankers carrying 30,000-40,000 tonnes each had been sent. “None of the Indian refiners, including private refiners, are exporting gasoline to Russia. It may be some intermediary… Crude oil and refined products are often traded multiple times through intermediaries before reaching the final destination. Therefore, the original source of a shipment may differ from the immediate seller,” Puri said.

The minister, while speaking on exports of petrol, diesel and aviation turbine fuel (ATF), said India is one of the world’s largest refining and petroleum-exporting hubs, supplying refined products to more than 140 countries.

FUEL PRICES

On possibility of a cut in domestic fuel prices, Petroleum Minister Puri said petrol and diesel prices could be reduced if international crude prices remain at current levels for the next few months

CM tells mins to tour all dists, review drought

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE State cabinet on Thursday discussed the impending drought situation in the state due to scanty rain. After the cabinet meeting, Chief Minister DK Shivakumar said he has instructed his 13 ministers to visit all 31 districts and conduct review meetings.

“I, too, will tour all four administrative divisions and review the situation on the ground,” he said, briefing the media.” The PM has already issued a strong warning. There is a possibility of a severe shortage of both water and electricity across the country due to the prevailing weather conditions. At present, reservoirs such as Tungabhadra, Ghataprabha, Malaprabha, Almatti, Narayanpur and Vanivilas Sagar are recording zero inflow,” he remarked.

“Even in the Cauvery basin, inflow has reduced drastically. Last year, Hemavathi had 88tmcft of water, but today it has come down to 40tmcft. KRS had 100tmcft last year, whereas today it is at 22tmcft; Kabini had 79tmcft but it is now at 26tmcft. Overall, reservoir inflows have fallen to just 20 per cent,” he elaborated. P4

Cola-veri as new entrant shakes up duopoly in soft drinks market

DIPAK MONDAL @ New Delhi

KOLKATA-based ITC has opened a new front in India’s famed cola wars, traditionally waged by Coca-Cola and PepsiCo. The Indian company’s latest coconut-based carbonated drink has reignited interest in the country’s soft drinks market, currently dominated by the two US giants that control nearly 90% of the market.

Reliance Industries-owned desi brand Campa Cola, a distant third player, has been unable to make inroads into this highly entrenched market. ITC’s entry will add another layer of competition but may not disrupt the market.

According to sources, ITC’s B Natural Coconut Cola lacks the conventional ‘fizz’ needed to make significant headway in the fiercely contested cola segment. Interestingly, ITC is not trying to compete with established cola brands; instead, it wants to create an entirely new category by blending coconut water with cola flavour. The drink is positioned as a healthier alternative, with lower calories and no added sugar.

Industry executives point out that ITC has stayed away from the aggressive price wars. B Natural Coconut Cola is priced at ₹60 for a 250 ml can, compared with ₹38 for a 300 ml can of Coca-Cola.

“It is being marketed as a premium product,” said the spokesperson for a quick-commerce platform. The product is available only on select quick-commerce platforms.

A brokerage analyst tracking ITC said the launch is part of the company’s strategy to introduce innovative beverages, including Breakfast Smoothie with Oats, Mango Smoothie with Chunks and Berry Smoothie with Chia Seeds.

Reliance recently said that Campa Cola, the iconic brand revived by Reliance Consumer Products Ltd, has become one of India’s top four carbonated beverage brands in less than two years of its relaunch. According to RCPL, Campa recorded annual revenue of ₹4,700 crore in FY26, making it India’s fourth-largest carbonated drinks brand.

Direct competition unlikely: Analysts

According to market analysts, ITC’s foray into soft drinks may not intensify competition in the cola market. A broking analyst said ITC itself is unlikely to take on the established players directly, given Reliance’s limited success so far in challenging the two US beverage giants

MINING, BLASTING GOING ON IN BUFFER ZONE, CLAIM RESIDENTS

RAKSHITH GOWDA @ Bengaluru

MINING and blasting carried out within the buffer zone allegedly led to the death of seven workers, claimed local residents. They alleged that the mandatory 7.5-metre (around 25ft) buffer zone around the quarry was not maintained, and workers were not provided with safety gear, despite the risks involved in working at the adjoining quarry sites.

Meanwhile, the Department of Mines and Geology has temporarily shut down 48 quarries following the incident.

Lakshmi Narayana, a resident of Huluvenahalli village where the seven workers were killed in Thursday's boulder collapse, told TNIE that according to the Directorate General of Mines Safety (DGMS) guidelines, a mandatory buffer zone of at least 7.5 metres must be maintained around the lease boundary, where no mining or blasting activity is permitted. However, he alleged that the two adjoining quarry owners had violated this rule by carrying out mining operations within the prohibited zone. He also accused the Department of Mines and Geology of negligence in inspecting the quarry and enforcing safety norms.

Another villager alleged that quarry operators in the locality were engaged in intense competition to extract more stone, often compromising safety standards. He claimed that instead of carrying out controlled blasting using smaller quantities of explosives and following the prescribed step-by-step blasting procedure, owners allegedly opted for high-intensity explosions to save time. He alleged that officials merely verified documentation during inspections and failed to examine whether safety protocols were actually being followed at the site.

Another local resident, Ramaiah, alleged that a blast may have occurred in the upper quarry's buffer zone on Wednesday night or on an earlier day. He claimed that the boulders had already been broken, and explosive wires were found at the site. Narayana claimed that the workers were not provided essential personal protective equipment such as safety helmets, gloves and boots. He alleged that many labourers, dependent on their daily wages, rarely demanded safety gear for fear of losing work.

Senior geologist, Bengaluru Urban, Krishna Veni told TNIE that all 48 quarries operating in the district have been temporarily shut down following the incident. "We will hold a meeting with all quarry owners and ensure strict compliance with mine safety measures. Around 15 days ago, quarry operators were instructed to follow safety norms, but despite those directions, this tragedy occurred," she said, adding that both quarry owners possessed valid licences.

Quarry owners told to pay compensation: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar meets an injured undergoing treatment at RR Hospital on Mysuru Road | EXPRESS

CHIEF Minister DK Shivakumar on Thursday said that the state government will initiate action in the quarry boulder collapse case in which seven workers died, after receiving a report from its officials. Compensation will be given to the families of the victims based on the report, he told reporters here.

Shivakumar said that an investigation is on to know if the quarry was being run legally and following safety norms.

Police and officials from the Department of Mines and Geology have visited the quarry. Preliminary investigations revealed that the boulder collapse was not caused by a blast, he said.

Shivakumar said the quarry operators have been directed to pay compensation to the families of the victims.

Responding to Yeshwanthpur MLA ST Somashekar's allegation that a leopard died in a blast in the quarry sometime ago and it was hushed up without a proper investigation, Shivakumar said the MLA had brought the matter to the government's attention. "I will comment only after I receive the report,'' he said, adding that steps will be taken to prevent such incidents in future.

Strict legal action, including filing of FIRs, will be initiated if rules and regulations are violated by those operating the quarry, the CM, who visited the injured in the hospital later in the day, said.

No quarries have NOC, had asked officials to shut them 2 months back: Social worker

Dinesh Indra Kumar, social worker and realtor from Kurubarahalli, said there are 112 stone quarries in Madapattana, Unnigere, Ulivenahalli, Solivara, Golahalli and Lakshmipura in Tavarekere hobli and none of the quarry owners have obtained No Objection Certificate (NOC). "On April 28, I complained to the authorities to shut down the quarries as they do not have NOC. If the authorities had stopped them, the seven people who lost their lives today would have been alive. Some of the quarries are owned by senior politicians and their associates. The president of the local quarry association is a close associate of an influential politician. Even they are operating illegally without the NOC."

Severed limbs, crushed heads... rescue personnel witness gory scenes

For fire personnel involved in the rescue operations at the quarry site, witnessing the extensive crush injuries was a nightmarish experience. Two to three of the seven workers were dismembered, with their intestines exposed, while all the victims suffered severe crush injuries, including to their skulls, a fire personnel said. Another officer said the workers died instantly. "The impact was so severe that the victims suffered extensive crush injuries. Some bodies had severed limbs, while in a few, the intestines were exposed. The victims could be identified by their fellow workers only through their clothing," he said.

Family members of Ramu arrive at the quarry following the tragedy | EXPRESS

A GRIEVING mother, who lost her son Ramu, a tractor driver from Yadgir, said the family had migrated to Bengaluru in search of a livelihood and found work at the quarry. "We came here to earn our daily bread, but today we have lost our son. We don't know what to do now," she said, breaking down in tears.

She said Ramu had left for work around 6 am on Thursday. "A few hours later, we received a call informing us that he had met with an accident. I don't know what to tell his wife," she said.

Another family member said the incident had left the workers in fear. "What will we do now if such incidents keep happening? We came here from another place hoping for a better life. We earn only around Rs 800 a day as daily wages," he said.

Meanwhile, Vinod, an earthmover operator who was loading stones about 10 metres from the spot when the mishap occurred, said there was no possibility of rescuing those trapped beneath the collapsed boulders. "I only heard a loud crashing sound when the rocks came down. There was no debris on my earthmover, but the workers standing near the boulders were crushed instantly," he said, adding, "I saw some workers running and jumping away from the boulder to escape. They sustained injuries to their hands, legs and head while trying to save their lives."

Quarry owners, two others arrested

THE officer said there appeared to be negligence on the part of both quarry owners, as adequate safety precautions had not been taken. The upper quarry is operated by Basaveshwara Stone Quarry, owned by D Anandaswamy, while the lower quarry is operated by SR Udayshankar Stone Quarry, also known as Kaveri Stone Quarry, owned by Udayshankar.

The Tavarekere police have registered a case under Sections 105 (culpable homicide not amounting to murder), 324 (mischief), and other relevant provisions of the Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita (BNS) against the two quarry owners and others, based on a complaint filed by injured worker Gopikrishna T.

THE VICTIMS

Ramu (44), Yadgir, Karnataka
Sathyanarayan Goud (37), Madhya Pradesh
Ramavatar Singh (30), Madhya Pradesh
Bhuvaneshwar Singh (37), Madhya Pradesh
Rajesh Prashanth Choudary (28), Madhya Pradesh
Shivaraj Singh (22), Madhya Pradesh
Dharmesh Singh (22), Chhattisgarh

THE INJURED ARE NEHAL SINGH, ANAND, GULAB SINGH, RAJPAL SINGH AND CHOTULAL

Gopikrishna alleged that despite being aware of the risk of rockfalls and the possibility of fatal accidents, the quarry owners failed to implement adequate safety measures.

The police have arrested D Anandaswamy and Udayshankar, along with Pandu, a supervisor at Anandaswamy's quarry, and Tirupathi.

The body of one of the victims, Ramu, has been handed over to his family.

Of the five injured, two are said to be in critical condition and are undergoing treatment at RR Hospital on Mysuru Road.

BLOs must visit houses, distribute forms: CM

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Thursday issued a directive to Booth-Level Officers (BLOs) to visit houses and distribute enumeration forms. Referring to allegations that such forms are being distributed to voters by gathering them at community halls and other places, he said, "This matter has come to my notice. It is illegal. We will not allow it. This will not be allowed even if MLAs from my party are involved." "The BJP MLA from Jayanagar is doing it. There is time till July 29. I have instructed the officials to ensure that the BLOs visit houses across the state as part of SIR," the CM said. "It is the responsibility of our government to protect people's right to vote. We have decided to set up help centres in all wards and booths. Opposition parties make allegations for political gains. We are here to serve the people. We will do our duty," he said.

UNION Minister HD Kumaraswamy on Thursday alleged that the ruling Congress is attempting to include illegal immigrants from Bangladesh in the voters' list in Ramanagara (Bengaluru South district).

Addressing reporters here, he alleged that the Election Commission's norms are being violated during the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Ramanagara.

Terming it a SIR scam, Kumaraswamy released a video of the exercise at a community hall in Ramanagara. He alleged that the Congress government is attempting to derail the SIR exercise not only in Ramanagara, but also in other parts of Karnataka. He demanded that the Ramanagara deputy commissioner be suspended immediately and action initiated against all officials responsible for the alleged irregularities.

He alleged that on the direction of the chief minister, attempts are being made to create documents for thousands of fake voters, including illegal immigrants from Bangladesh. He urged the EC to intervene immediately and put an end to the alleged irregularities.

Stating that the alleged irregularities in SIR spoke about the state of democracy, Kumaraswamy said, "This is the work of a party that claims to uphold the Constitution."

Referring to the video, he said instead of BLOs conducting the mandatory door-to-door verification, thousands of people were brought to a community hall at Tipu Nagar in Ramanagara for the exercise. "This is a systematic conspiracy to provide voting rights to illegal Bangladeshi immigrants. This is nothing but a threat to national security" he added.

Kumaraswamy accused the officials of yielding to the ruling party's pressure and violating the SIR norms. He said the videos of the alleged irregularities in the SIR exercise in Ramanagara will be submitted to Union Home Minister Amit Shah and the ECI.

He accused the Karnataka government of introducing caste in the revision of beneficiaries under its guarantee schemes. The government is attempting to divide society on the caste lines ahead of the 2028 Assembly elections to retain power, he alleged.

JDS writes to CEO

The legal cell of JDS has filed a complaint with the Chief Electoral Officer of Karnataka regarding the alleged irregularities in the SIR exercise in Ramanagara. In the complaint, legal cell president AP Ranganath sought a detailed inquiry into the conduct of BLOs in Ramanagara assembly constituency. The AERO (tahasildar of Ramanagara taluk) should be replaced immediately, he said. He said a special state-level monitoring team should be constituted and its members sent to Ramanagara to oversee the SIR process.

SIR forms only in Kannada, fume citizens

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

The SIR of electoral rolls has triggered a fresh controversy in Bengaluru, with dozens of citizens taking to social media to question why SIR forms and 2002 electoral rolls are available only in Kannada. Critics argue that in a cosmopolitan city where a significant section of residents is not literate in Kannada, the language barrier could discourage eligible voters from participating in the exercise. Several social media users questioned how nearly 40% of Bengaluru's population, many of who cannot read Kannada, are expected to verify details. They demanded that all SIR documents be made available in English and other languages.

A director of a leading television channel told TNIE that while he could read Kannada, many younger residents could not. "...there is Gen Z that is far more comfortable with English. I have received numerous WhatsApp messages saying the forms and voter rolls should be in English as well," he said.

CHRI Director Venkatesh Nayak said the ECI's objective should be to remove barriers. "SIR process has to make participation convenient for everyone," he said. Nayak said governments encourage people from across the country to invest, work and settle in Bengaluru, and electoral process should reflect the same inclusiveness.

Responding, Karnataka Chief Electoral Officer Anbukkumar said EC would look into the issue. He suggested people could use Google Translate to understand the contents.

Govt issues guidelines for digital crop survey

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE State Government has issued new guidelines for the 2026-27 Crop Survey, conducted using a mobile app across Karnataka. Farmers can self-report crop details, which will be verified by revenue officials using GPS and satellite images.

The survey data will be used for crop insurance, disaster relief and implementation of government schemes. The government has also included provisions to record cases where farmers could not sow crops due to lack of rain or where crops were damaged by natural disasters. This information will help in providing crop insurance, compensation and other government assistance, says the government order.

Under the government order issued on June 30, farmers will be allowed to self-report crop details through the Farmer Crop Survey mobile application. If farmers fail to upload the information, officials will conduct field verification. The survey will use geo-referenced maps and GPS-based verification to improve data accuracy.

The order also provides for recording prevented sowing, crop losses due to natural calamities and post-harvest losses. Farmers will be given an opportunity to seek corrections to crop records within the prescribed timeline. The crop survey data will be integrated with crop insurance, MSP procurement, disaster compensation and other agriculture-related schemes. Detailed Standard Operating Procedures (SOPs) have been issued to Revenue, Agriculture and Horticulture departments for implementation.

> Claims where the insured crop is visible in survey photographs will be recommended for approval. If seasonal crops are not found in the photographs, the claims will be recommended for rejection
> Guidelines

The Standard Operating Procedure (SOP) for verifying crop insurance proposals that do not match crop survey data and are not eligible for exemptions. Under the SOP, bank branches will verify crop loan cases, while taluk agriculture officers and horticulture officers will verify non-loan cases.

"Claims where the insured crop is visible in crop survey photographs will be recommended for approval. If seasonal crops are not found in the photographs, the claims will be recommended for rejection. For perennial crops, field verification through a mobile app will be carried out before a final decision is taken," it stated.

The SOP issued strict specific timelines for processing claims. "Verification must be completed within 15 days for most cases and 45 days for perennial crop cases. Insurance companies must accept or reject proposals within seven days and initiate approved claims within 15 days. It then disburses compensation within another 15 days. Farmers whose claims are rejected can file grievances within 15 days of the publication of the rejection list," it added.

Ashoka: Sowing delayed, agri dept functioning sans full-time minister

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

LEADER of Opposition in the Karnataka Assembly, R Ashoka, urged the State Government to take immediate measures to provide relief to people in view of the drought situation in the state.

In a letter to Chief Minister DK Shivakumar, Ashoka said farmers, agricultural labourers, and rural populations in many parts of the state are facing severe hardships. Sowing activities have been delayed, and crops are at risk of withering; reservoir water levels are continuously declining, raising serious concerns that drinking water problems could become acute in the coming days, he said.

The BJP leader said drought conditions have emerged in more than 150 taluks, with rainfall significantly below normal in several areas. Crops already sown are drying up due to lack of moisture, and this will impact agricultural production, he said, adding that agricultural labourers are migrating to cities and neighbouring states.

Ashoka said it is unfortunate that most district in-charge ministers have neither convened comprehensive review meetings on the drought situation in their districts nor visited the taluks. "Agriculture department is functioning without a full-time minister. When the livelihoods of lakhs of farmers are at stake, the absence of leadership in the Agriculture department raises questions about the administration's priorities," he said.

Ashoka also urged the CM to announce a state-wide emergency plan and formulate a comprehensive action plan for alternative crops, sowing advice, seeds, fodder, livestock protection, drinking water supply, and emergency employment generation.

15-day monsoon session in August after SIR

"THIS is a matter of serious concern. I appeal to farmers not to sow crops relying solely on reservoir water. If there is no water, we will not be able to release water for irrigation," Shivakumar warned. He suggested that farmers should decide on raising water-intensive crops based on the progress of the monsoon and until reservoirs are adequately filled. Terming it a major concern across the country, he hoped for good rainfall during the rest of the season so that water can be released for agriculture.

The Centre has warned about the possibility of a severe drought in the country, Shivakumar said, adding that he has already directed departments to stock adequate coal and other essential resources to ensure there is no shortage. A gas-based power facility in Bengaluru will also be kept ready for use if required," he said.

The CM said the cabinet has decided to hold a 15-day monsoon session of joint legislature in August, though it is usually convened in July, after the Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls.

The process will conclude with the announcement of the draft roll on August 5, and until then, MLAs and officials will be engaged in ensuring that eligible voters remain on the electoral rolls in their respective constituencies, he reasoned. "Leaders from all political parties are also occupied with this exercise, and we don't want to disturb them. I will fix a date for the Assembly session, either in the first or second week of August," he said. Shivakumar stressed BLOs are required to deliver the forms at doorsteps, and no MLA or political party worker is authorised to distribute them. BLOs must visit each household and make three attempts if the voter is unavailable, and political parties may assist through their Booth Level Agents, but actual distribution of forms must be done only by BLOs, he said.

'Prajaseva' to address woes

The CM said 'Prajaseva', a new department set up to address public grievances, will have a designated minister. He instructed all ministers to hold grievance meetings twice a month in every assembly constituency on the first and third Saturdays along with the MLAs concerned. The department will serve as a platform for people to present their problems, including those raised through protests, and will resolve public issues and ensure the concerns are communicated to the appropriate departments and officials. "Wherever protests take place, ministers and officers will receive applications, and wherever legally permissible, process them and provide assistance. The grievances will then be forwarded to the department," he elaborated.

Harsh Gupta, Chairman, Karnataka Appellate Tribunal, Bengaluru, was posted as principal secretary, Prajaseva department. He will also hold concurrent charge of the post of KAT Chairman.

Motorists in a quandary over Centre's E20 fuel policy

BANSY KALAPPA @Bengaluru

THE Union Government's E20 fuel policy that mandates a blend of 20% ethanol and 80% petrol is coming under flak from motorists especially with the Centre telling the Supreme Court that ethanol blending programme is still in the experimental stage with final results expected only by 2027.

For example, Dr. Sagarika in Bengaluru has been having starting trouble with her Vespa scooter. She says three times she had to fall back on mechanics who drained nearly a bottle of water-like liquid from the petrol tank. "Every time the mechanic removes the liquid and the scooter starts functioning again," says she.

Deepak, a mechanic, says the villain is E20 fuel. "Ethanol attracts moisture. If the fuel is not properly blended or stored, it separates and settles at the bottom of the tank, creating starting trouble," he claimed.

A Vicky, who has specialised in imported car repairs for nearly four decades, says ethanol is denser than petrol and settles at the bottom of the fuel tank when phase separation occurs. He said that this can result in engine complaints, carbon deposits, reduced fuel efficiency and loss of vehicle pick-up.

BR Ravindranath, former president, Karnataka Petroleum Dealers' Association, said the issue is not with ethanol as a concept but with its implementation. "The biggest problem is blending. If the Centre has told the Supreme Court that further experiments are required until 2027, it means the programme is still being evaluated while millions of consumers are already using the fuel."

He said improper blending can lead consumers to mistake ethanol separation for water contamination. "Many motorists believe petrol has been mixed with water. In several cases, what they are actually seeing could be ethanol separating from petrol. This needs scientific study before being imposed on the public," he said.

He added that ethanol has a lower calorific value than petrol, potentially affecting fuel economy, and claimed he had repeatedly raised concerns with oil marketing companies and fuel terminal managers over blending practices without receiving satisfactory action.

Meanwhile, in a post on social media, Karnataka Home Minister Priyank Kharge asked the Centre to roll back its E20 fuel policy.

FOOTPATH CLEARANCE ONLY ON 20% OF MAJOR ROADS, VENDORS CAN USE REST: KBG

Minister says objective is to relocate, not evict them; not sudden crackdown, notices issued

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AMID concerns over the ongoing footpath encroachment clearance drive, Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda on Thursday clarified that the state Government is targeting only about 20% of the city's major arterial and sub-arterial roads, while street vending will continue to be permitted on the remaining 80% of ward roads.

The minister stressed that the objective was to relocate street vendors, not evict them, in line with the Supreme Court's directives that pedestrians have a fundamental right to safe footpaths. He said that the State Government could not ignore the loss of lives caused by pedestrians being forced onto roads owing to encroachments.

Reviewing the footpath clearance campaign through a virtual meeting, Gowda directed officials to remove not only street vendors but also abandoned vehicles, illegally parked vehicles, signboards, ramps and other obstacles obstructing pedestrian movement. He instructed civic agencies to immediately begin developing footpaths after encroachments are cleared instead of waiting for the drive to conclude.

Gowda also clarified that the ongoing footpath encroachment clearance drive was not a sudden crackdown and that notices were issued before action was taken. The Safe Footpath Campaign, being held from July 1 to 10 across 1,000 km of roads, is removing illegal parking, encroaching signboards, kiosks and shops blocking pedestrian pathways. The drive is being conducted in accordance with the Street Vendors Act and Supreme Court guidelines, with civic officials and police coordinating the exercise. Damaged footpaths will also be repaired to improve pedestrian safety.

Street vendors call for citywide protest

Street vendors called for a citywide protest opposing the footpath encroachment clearance drive, alleging that around 1.20 lakh vendors risk losing their livelihoods. The Joint Committee of Street Vendors which includes 15 organisations has called for a likely citywide bandh and protest at Freedom Park on July 7 or 9, urging vendors to suspend business.

Nava Karnataka Rajya Beedibadi Vyaparigala Sangha president Keshavamurthy alleged that despite submitting representations to Gowda and GBA officials, no response was received. He said vendors were only seeking legally mandated vending zones and rehabilitation instead of eviction. He also added that no notices were issued as claimed by the minister.

Necessary steps must be taken to launch a drive to clear abandoned vehicles parked on the roadsides of the city starting July 10, Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda said. He instructed officials to complete the required preparations in coordination with the municipal corporation and traffic police, formulate a systematic action plan, and execute the campaign effectively. It will be followed by a campaign after July 15 to clear construction debris and overgrown vegetation in coordination with civic bodies, Metro and Railway authorities. He further directed officials to launch a special drive to remove ramps illegally constructed over footpaths in front of residential and commercial buildings. ENS

ALL PARTY MLAs BACK FOOTPATH EVICTION DRIVE: CM

Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Thursday said legislators across party lines had unanimously agreed to clear encroachments on Bengaluru's footpaths in compliance with the Supreme Court's directions. Responding to questions on the ongoing eviction drive led by Bengaluru Development Minister Krishna Byre Gowda, Shivakumar said the issue had been discussed with Opposition MLAs, who also supported the initiative. “The Urban Development Minister has already explained the issue. I had earlier discussed it with Opposition MLAs, and they too agreed,” he said. Shivakumar said the government was relocating street vendors from footpaths to designated vending zones. He added that around 60,000 street vendors had been surveyed, while 37,000 had registered to receive vending carts under a government scheme, which will be implemented shortly. He clarified that vendors would be provided space away from the city's main roads. ENS

City can recycle 60% of waste water to ease crisis, finds study

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

BENGALURU can significantly ease its recurring water shortages by recycling up to 60% of the waste water generated within the city, according to a new international study.

However, poor governance, weak enforcement and operational failures are preventing the city from unlocking its full potential, the study added.

The study, conducted by researchers from the Swiss Federal Institute of Aquatic Science and Technology (Eawag), Georgetown University, USA, and Bengaluru-based Water, Environment, Land and Livelihoods (WELL) Labs, estimates that between 473 million litres and 1,187 million litres of waste water generated daily (MLD) could be safely reused for non-potable purposes such as toilet flushing, landscaping, construction and cooling systems.

Researchers found that despite Bengaluru having more than 3,000 decentralised waste water treatment and reuse systems (DWTRS) – the highest concentration in the world – only about 47 MLD of treated waste water is currently being reused. The team reviewed two decades of water policies, interviewed government officials, experts and residents, and inspected 22 decentralised sewage treatment plants, mostly located in apartment complexes.

The findings revealed widespread operational deficiencies. “More than 80% of the inspected plants suffered from compliance issues, producing treated water with noticeable colour, odour and turbidity. Most facilities lacked trained operators, with security guards and housekeeping staff often managing complex treatment systems. More than 80% of the plants also failed to reuse treated water for all non-potable purposes mandated under existing regulations,” the study read.

The researchers said fragmented governance and poor coordination among multiple agencies, including water supply, environmental and urban development authorities, have hampered effective implementation.

The study also noted that heavily subsidised piped water and virtually free groundwater extraction have reduced incentives for apartment complexes to invest in waste water recycling systems.

BNCC clears 50 of 100 garbage blackspots under UB100 campaign

BENGALURU: The Bengaluru North City Corporation (BNCC) on Thursday said it has completed 50% of its special cleanliness campaign, UB100 (Uttara Bengaluru 100), launched in June to eliminate major garbage blackspots across its jurisdiction. The campaign aims to permanently eliminate 100 major dumping spots that had caused inconvenience to residents for years. According to BNCC, 50 such locations have already been cleared, while work at the remaining 50 sites is expected to be completed by July 31. The civic body said the works include removal of waste, footpath repairs, roadside cleaning, streetlight maintenance, wall beautification and greening initiatives. Infrastructure improvement and beautification works are currently underway at the remaining locations. In the first phase, the campaign focuses on clearing garbage and waste, repairing footpaths and roadside infrastructure, and restoring or installing streetlights. The second phase includes wall paintings, artistic installations, tree plantation, installation of benches and development of mini parks and community spaces. The final phase will focus on sustained monitoring and public awareness to ensure the sites remain clean. Residents, commercial establishments, community organisations and volunteers have actively participated in the drive, BNCC said. ENS

No resistance as Nidaghatta Dalits end 50 years of temple restriction

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chikkamagaluru

Dalit leaders with Tahsildar CS Poornima and police officials in front of the Anjanaeya Swamy temple at Nidaghatta village in Kadur taluk on Tuesday | EXPRESS

HUNDREDS of people from the Dalit community at Nidaghatta village in Kadur taluk of Chikkamagaluru district on Tuesday entered the caste Hindu temple of Anjanaeya Swamy, where they were denied entry for decades, and worshipped the deity.

Expecting trouble, the district administration had deployed hundreds of police personnel in the locality, however, the caste Hindus did not put up any resistance.

Kadur Tahsildar CS Poornima, Tarikere Deputy Superintendent of police VS Halamyrthy Rao, Taluk Panchayt Executive Officer CR Praveen, Circle Inspector M Rafiq and Sakrayapatna Sub Inspector Pwan monitored the situation.

Close to the Anjanaeya Swamy temple, the Dalit community has built a temple for Mahatma Gandhi and worshipped him there since independence.

Educated Dalit youth and progressive protagonists of Dalit movement in the village and surroundings had been fighting for their rights, including the provision for them to gain entry into Hindu temples, for the past five decades, but villagers had always put up a stiff resistance.

The Dalits leaders in the village had also taken up the issue with the Kadur taluk administration, but there were no positive steps so far.

After the incident-free movement on Tuesday, Dalit leaders YT Govindapa, Raghavendra, Banur Suresh, Kadur Pramod, Banur Naganna, Y Malapaura Thammaiah, Basur Prasana, Gopal, Jayanna and Kedigere Chandrapp thanked the taluk administration and the police department for the security arrangements.

CHILD ABUSE AFTERMATH

CAPGEMINI HALTS DAYCARE SERVICE

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CAPGEMINI has temporarily closed its on-campus daycare facility in Bengaluru after police registered a case against five caregivers over allegations of abuse involving toddlers. The case came to light after videos allegedly showing children being mistreated at the facility circulated on social media, and the matter was reported to the authorities.

According to Bengaluru police, the FIR was registered under relevant provisions of the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act against five women working at the daycare facility located on the company's HAL campus in Brookefield. The children using the facility are the wards of employees working on the campus. An investigation is under way, and no arrests had been reported at the time of reporting.

Police said the complaint was based on videos allegedly recorded inside the daycare centre. According to the complaint, the footage purportedly shows caregivers physically mistreating children aged between two and three years. Media reports said the videos showed children being locked inside bathrooms, placed inside a front-loading washing machine, made to sit on a toilet seat and sprayed with water from a toilet jet while crying. The police are verifying the authenticity of the videos as part of the investigation.

The incident has raised concerns about the safety and oversight of workplace childcare facilities. The Karnataka Police are also examining the functioning of the daycare centre and the circumstances surrounding the alleged incidents.

Meanwhile, the company on Thursday issued a statement, saying, "We are cooperating fully with the relevant authorities and assisting them in their efforts to establish the facts. As a precautionary measure, we are temporarily closing the Bengaluru on-campus daycare facility." The company did not comment on the allegations.

The incident has triggered widespread concern among employees. The alleged abuse came to light after videos circulated on WhatsApp, following which the matter was brought to the attention of the Child Helpline and the police. Investigators are expected to question the accused caregivers and examine digital evidence.

ISRO receives hoax bomb threat e-mail

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) headquarters on New BEL Road in Bengaluru received a bomb threat e-mail on Thursday morning. The e-mail was sent to the office of ISRO Chairman Dr V Narayanan. It claimed that the explosives were planted at the high-security establishment. However, checks by the police and the bomb disposal squad found no suspicious objects or explosives and declared the threat a hoax.

According to ISRO officials, an e-mail was sent on the e-mail address of the chairman and public relations official.

"We saw the e-mail at around 11am and the Bengaluru City police was informed. The bomb squad and the teams came to the campus at around 11.30am and a thorough check was done of the entire campus, including Antariksh Bhavan. The search went on till around 3.30pm., before it was confirmed that it was a hoax," sources in ISRO said.

Despite repeated attempts, ISRO teams refused to share the contents of the e-mail.

The Sanjaynagar police have registered a case and are further investigating.

Meanwhile, district courts in Mysuru, Yadgir and Chikkamagaluru also received hoax bomb threat e-mails on Thursday. After thorough checks by bomb disposal squads and security personnel, the threats were declared a hoax.

Researchers, experts bet on ultrasound to fight oral cancer

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A team of researchers and experts from the Indian Institute of Science (IISc) and MS Ramaiah Medical College and Hospitals is betting on low frequency ultrasound to fight oral cancer.

The study noted that oral cancer cells were vulnerable to moderate mechanical stimulations produced by ultrasound. When exposed to ultrasound-driven mechanical stimulation, cancer cells underwent selective cell death, while healthy oral epithelial cells remained unharmed, the researchers said in the report.

The study titled 'Revealing biochemical vulnerabilities in oral cancer cells using 3D coculture platform and loq-frequency ultrasound' was published in Science Direct journal.

Ajay Tijore, Assistant Professor, Department of Bioengineering, IISc and co-author of the study said the uniqueness of the study lies in showing how ultrasound can target oral caner cells by exploiting their mechanical weakness. Instead of using heat or drugs, this approach uses moderate mechanical forces to damage cancer cells beyond recover," he said.

The teams also found that the ultrasound drastically reduced the cancer cells' ability to migrate and invade surrounding tissue.

POST OF THE DAY

Pawan Kalyan @PawanKalyan

It is a matter of immense pride for the people of AP that our state is chosen as the National Launch State for the Viksit Bharat – Rozgar aur Aajeevika Mission (Gramin) (VB-G RAM G)

Notice issued, order stayed till September 28

ISSUING notice to the Departments of Home and Prosecution and Government Litigation, the court said that the impugned order is stayed till September 28, the next date of hearing.

The petitioner stated that in an identical situation earlier, the then Deputy Chief Minister interfered and recommended withdrawal of criminal cases and the same was challenged before the High Court in 2024. Though the Home and Prosecution Departments are parties to those proceedings, they have deliberately withdrawn the cases, violating the law declared by the high court in 2025.

It was stated in the petition that the notification was issued by the Home Department for withdrawal of 52 cases involving the offences affecting public order, public servants, communal harmony, public property, unlawful assembly, rioting, conspiracy, promoting enmity between two different groups on grounds of religion, race, attempt to murder, wrongful restraint, etc.

But the petitioner could secure only one notification with regard to Kalaburagi district, which is ultravires Section 321 of the CrPC, which specifically grants the authority to initiate any action for withdrawal from prosecution solely to public prosecutors by applying their minds independently. Therefore, the high court may secure all those notifications and find out whether other ministers have interfered with other withdrawals of cases and the same calls for judicial scrutiny, the petitioner pleaded.

VB-GRAM G LAUNCHED

Centre clears ₹7,700 cr, 74,212 houses for AP

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Tirupati

IN a defining milestone for rural development, Union Minister for Rural Development Shivraj Singh Chouhan, Chief Minister N Chandrababu Naidu, and Deputy Chief Minister Pawan Kalyan launched Viksit Bharat – Guarantee for Rozgar and Ajeevika Mission (Gramin) (VB-GRAM G) scheme from Mukkavaripalli village in Railway Koduru constituency on Thursday.

The pan-India rollout marks a massive federal initiative to transform rural infrastructure and generate sustainable livelihoods. To mark the launch, the dignitaries initiated three foundational community projects at Mukkavaripalli, including a rainwater conservation pond, and a magic drain system, and distributed the initial VB-GRAM G job cards to local beneficiaries, while Union Ministers of State for Rural Development Pemmasani Chandrasekhar and Kamlesh Paswan unveiled the mission's official promotional anthem. Chouhan said the Centre's massive funding injection under VB-GRAM G is designed to completely uplift India's villages by granting autonomy to local Gram Sabhas to execute their own development models.

The Union Minister announced an immediate release of Rs 7,700 crore as the Centre's share to Andhra Pradesh for the current fiscal year. He formally handed over a Rs 422-crore fund sanction document to the State, which includes the approval of 74,212 permanent houses under the Pradhan Mantri Awas Yojana (PMAY), and extensive connectivity works under the Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojana (PMGSY).

Addressing local agricultural requirements, Chouhan also announced that the Centre will step in to procure 2,16,250 metric tonnes of Totapuri mangoes under the Market Intervention Scheme (MIS), reinforcing that the Union Government stands shoulder-to-shoulder with the State leadership.

B'luru-based company tests 700kg e-aircraft

BENGALURU: City-based Sarla Aviation completed a flight-test campaign for Sylla, its half-scale electric vertical take-off and landing (eVTOL) technology demonstrator, on July 1. The demonstrator logged more than 500 tests and over 18 hours of flight testing across six months, making the 700 kg-class, 7.5-metre-wingspan aircraft the heaviest electric aircraft ever to take off in India. The first version – Sylla 1.0 – is built to validate aircraft-level and system-level integration under real operating conditions. The time elapsed from design to flight was under 12 months, which was conducted within a budget of less than USD 13 million. "Sylla has given us the data we set out to capture, and those learnings are already shaping our next-gen aircraft as we move towards transition and sustained wing-borne flight on our journey to our 6+1 air taxi Shunya," said co-founder and chief technology officer Rakesh Gaonkar. The company is India's first to: build and fly a 700 kg-class electric aircraft capable of vertical take-off; fly a 400-volt electric powertrain architecture; demonstrate a distributed-propulsion wing system; complete full-stack ground testing in accordance with airworthiness regulations. ENS

AIADMK urges ECI to defer bypolls

T MURUGANANDHAM @Chennai

ALLEGING that the ruling TVK engineered defections to shore up its numbers in the Assembly, the AIADMK has urged the Election Commission of India (ECI) not to hold by-elections to the six vacant seats until the legal issues surrounding the resignation of MLAs are disposed of. Sources said party general secretary Edappadi K Palaniswami submitted a detailed representation to the ECI on June 25. While announcing by-elections in three other states on Thursday, the ECI did not notify bypolls for the vacant seats in TN.

Speaking to reporters in New Delhi after meeting ECI officials, AIADMK MP IS Inbadurai alleged that the TVK, which won 107 seats in the Assembly election, persuaded AIADMK legislators to switch allegiance to cross the majority mark. He said that Vijay had personally met AIADMK MLAs and later, 25 of them voted in favour of the TVK during the confidence motion, defying the party whip. He said 21 of those MLAs later met Palaniswami and sought forgiveness. He contended that bypolls should not be held until the Madras HC decides the petitions challenging the resignations. He said that conducting by-elections before the legal issues are resolved would undermine the objective of the Tenth Schedule by allowing defecting legislators, or candidates backed by the ruling party, to re-enter the House immediately after resigning.

India's first private orbital rocket set for launch

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

SKYROOT Aerospace, a private space company, on Thursday announced its maiden test flight of Vikram-1 launch vehicle between July 12 and August 4 from Satish Dhawan Space Centre in Sriharikota.

This is India's first privately developed orbital-class rocket. Its launch depends on successful testing operations, weather conditions and clearances from the agencies concerned.

"The most important objective of Mission Aagaman is to capture the real in-flight performance data from every system on Vikram-1. We want to understand how the vehicle performs from lift-off through every phase of ascent. This data cannot be fully replicated through ground testing. It will help in validating designs and inform subsequent vehicle development to build a reliable, high-cadence commercial launch programme," said Pawan Kumar Chandana, co-founder and CEO of Skyroot Aerospace. This will be Syroot's second mission. Its suborbital flight Vikram-S was the first private rocket to reach space on November 18, 2022.

It is a technology demonstration-cum learning mission done in coordination with the Union government, IN-SPACe and ISRO, said Naga Bharath Daka, co-founder and COO, Skyroot Aerospace.

Vikram-1 is a seven-storey-tall, multi-stage orbital launch vehicle built with an all-carbon composite structure and powered by in-house developed propulsion systems, including 3D-printed engines and high-thrust solid-fuel rocket boosters. Designed to carry small satellites weighing up to 350kg to Low Earth Orbit (LEO), Vikram-1's maiden mission will target an orbit at an altitude of 450km with a 60-degree orbital inclination.

The flight-ready rocket was unveiled by PM Narendra Modi in November 2025 during the inauguration of Skyroot's Infinity campus in Hyderabad.

TRUMP'S SC DEFEAT ON BIRTHRIGHT CITIZENSHIP, TARIFFS BEAR ON INDIANS

THE US Supreme Court's landmark verdict striking down President Donald Trump's Executive Order ending automatic birthright citizenship was as remarkable as its quashing, in February, of his tariff regime that roiled the global economy for close to a year. By doing so, a majority of the justices voted against whimsicality in governance. Trump had sought to snatch away a 150-year-old constitutional protection of citizenship by birth, arguing that the children of undocumented immigrants and temporary visitors were outside the ambit of the 14th Amendment. Interestingly, a couple of conservative judges—Chief Justice John Roberts and Justice Brett Kavanaugh—went with the majority in the split verdict. Justice Kavanaugh, however, suggested that Trump could yet pull off the move if he chose the route of a constitutional amendment. But that would require approval by two-thirds of both Houses of Congress and ratification by three-fourths of the US states, which is next to impossible in the fractured American polity.

Trump was so invested in ending birthright citizenship that he took a front-row seat in the Supreme Court for a day in April during oral arguments challenging his diktat. Following the adverse verdict, he is said to have turned to Plan B: denying visas to pregnant women. Back-of-the-envelope calculations by researchers put the number of babies born to foreign visitors at 20,000-26,000 a year. Contrast that with the 3.6 million babies born in the US in 2025, and the noise over 'birth tourism' appears needless. Busting birth tourism rackets is a legitimate focus of governance; what is not is a blanket ban on birthright citizenship.

The judgement brought back the debate on who is an American and, hopefully, restored policy certainty in human mobility. The Indian diaspora heaved a sigh of relief, as lakhs of them live, study and work in the US on various visas. A large number has also been waiting for employment-based green cards because of country-wise caps on permanent residency.

The Supreme Court's earlier decision on tariffs was also consequential for India. While Trump raged about not returning the estimated $166 billion his administration collected at the border, $22 billion in repayments were processed in May. Not surprisingly, India is wary of being bullied into an uneven trade deal.

BE WARY OF A SEISMIC DOUBLET IN HIMALAYA

THE twin earthquakes that struck Venezuela on June 24—which have so far claimed almost 2,300 lives, with thousands of others still unaccounted for amid the rubble—have led to unfounded concerns about violent seismic events becoming globally more common. The worries are based on a series of seismic events taking place over the past few months from Afghanistan to the Pacific Rim. Although seismologists have debunked the dot-joining efforts, the Venezuelan catastrophe has yielded more serious worries about twin earthquakes—doublets, which involve two strong quakes of similar intensities striking the same region in quick succession, compounding death and destruction. In the South American nation, the two tremors were separated by a mere 39 seconds.

Doublets are rare, but five of them have been recorded over the last seven decades—in New Zealand's Taranaki region in March 1960; in California in November 1987, when two quakes occurred in a farming region about half a day apart; in Pakistan in February 1997, when two strong quakes struck Balochistan just 19 seconds apart; in Iran in August 2012, when the East Azerbaijan province was rocked twice within minutes; and in Turkey and Syria in February 2023, when quakes of magnitudes 7.8 and 7.5 struck nine hours apart. Seismologists say doublets defy Bath's law, which follows Swedish seismologist Markus Båth's 1965 observation that the largest aftershock is typically about 1.2 magnitudes smaller than the main one.

India needs to be wary about doublets as seismologists consider the Himalayan range one of the world's most seismically volatile regions. The boundary where the Indian tectonic plate grinds against the Eurasian plate creates immense stress in the Earth's crust. This pressure props up the Himalayas and causes numerous faultlines, where a rupture in one fault can quickly trigger another in a connected fault, contributing to a devastating doublet in this fragile ecosystem.

The possible impact of such a doublet cannot be ignored, considering that over 40 percent of India's population lives in the Upper Indo-Gangetic Plain—the food bowl of the country—and the Northeast region, both vulnerable to severe seismic events. To begin, we need to understand the operating procedures that would kick in if such a tragedy strikes. As Venezuela is reminding us, the first steps following a doublet are the most critical ones.

QUICK TAKE

CRÈCHE CONCERNS

THE alleged abuse of toddlers at an information technology company's crèche in Bengaluru presents a deeply troubling picture. The details put out by local child protection officials point to the assigned caregivers' lack of training at a minimum, and lack of empathy at worst. That this happened on the campus of a large multinational in one of the most organised industrial sectors compounds the worries. The training required for looking after children aged below six broadens the questions about how such caregivers were chosen and their work audited, especially when complaints of abuse had reportedly been aired. As the recently-promulgated labour codes regarding social security and working conditions reiterate, daycare centres are extremely crucial for parents—especially women—to be able to join the workforce. We owe them extra-special attention.

Given that the Tenth Schedule is unable to stop large-scale floor crossings, it is time for a new law. Democracy must be protected while preserving party discipline and space for dissent

NEED NEW GUARDS AGAINST WEAPONS OF MASS DEFECTION

MANISH TEWARI

MP, lawyer, former Union I&B minister and author of A World Adrift

SOURAV ROY

BETWEEN March 1967 and February 1968, around 438 legislators changed their party allegiances, a figure that dwarfed the nearly 542 cases recorded across the interregnum between 1952 and 1967. It was after this spectacle of government-making by legislative mercenaryism that the Lok Sabha, on December 8, 1967, passed a unanimous resolution calling for a high-level committee to examine the problem of floor-crossing in all its dimensions.

The committee recommended that a defector be debarred from ministerial office, speakership, or any remunerative public post for a period of one year, or until re-elected. It was not until the 52nd Amendment (1985) that Parliament finally incorporated an anti-defection law into the Constitution's Tenth Schedule.

However, after that, individual defections metastasised into wholesale engineered splits. The one-third threshold for splits under paragraph 3 became a licence for mass desertion, a technique by which a legislative group could hive off, topple a government and install itself in power without any consequence.

Subsequently, the 91st Amendment (2003) deleted paragraph 3. However, it left paragraph 4 untouched, under which a member is not disqualified in case of merger of his political party and ratification of the merger by two-thirds of the legislature party. Effectively, the threshold was raised from one-third to two-thirds, moving the legitimised defection from a wholesale purchase to a mega-mall legislator shopping spree.

The disqualification attaches at the moment the act of defection (defined in paragraph 2), that is, voluntarily giving up membership of a political party or defiance of the whip. The Tenth Schedule provides, though five exceptions, specific defences that a member may raise to repel the charge: prior permission; condonation; merger of the original political party under paragraph 4; right to function as a separate group where a merger has occurred but one has not accepted it; and provisions relating to presiding officers under paragraph 5.

The framers of our Constitution designed a legislature of representatives who would articulate the predilections and priorities of their territorial constituencies. The Tenth Schedule has effectually converted these representatives into virtual hostages of a whip-driven tyranny. Lawmaking, far from being a consultative, transparent process, has degenerated into a bureaucratic function in which the individual member's vote is merely a pre-programmed unit. One problem, then, is a party absolutism that has hollowed out constituency imperatives, common sense and conscience of the legislature.

The other problem is that anti-defection law operates upon a grotesque misreading of law. Entire blocs of legislators are being carted across the aisle under the protective umbrella of the merger provision.

Paragraph 4 has become a weapon of mass defection. It protects a defector from disqualification where his "original political party merges with another political party" and some members of that original party either have become members of the post-merger entity, or have not accepted the merger and function as a separate group. For the purposes of this defence, the merger of original political party "shall be deemed to have taken place if, and only if, not less than two-thirds of the members of the legislature party concerned have agreed to such merger".

Certain legal principles must be considered while interpreting paragraph 4. First, it is settled law that under the Tenth Schedule, the Speaker does not possess independent power to decide that a split or merger has taken place in a proceeding divorced from a disqualification reference. He cannot suo motu convene a proceeding to certify a merger and thereby grant a blanket amnesty to defectors. Claim of a merger is a defence to a charge of defection that is open for respondents to plead; and only in that context, the Speaker adjudicates whether twin conditions of paragraph 4 are satisfied, separately and cumulatively.

Second, a resolution by two-thirds of a legislature party cannot be treated to constitute a merger of parties. It is only as a rule of evidence within a disqualification defence that paragraph 4(2) creates a deeming fiction. Neither does it enact a formula for the merger of political parties, nor does it vest the legislature party with the power to effect a merger.

Third, the Supreme Court, in Subhash Desai (2023), stated that the Tenth Schedule would become unworkable if the term 'political party' is read as 'legislature party'. A clear demarcation is made between the two for a merger under paragraph 4. To conflate the terms would be contrary to the plain language of the Tenth Schedule.

What follows is that a defence of merger is available only where a merger has in fact occurred, and that approval by two-thirds of the legislature party is a condition subsequent for that defence to succeed. Neither the factum of merger nor a resolution passed by two-thirds of the legislature party, absent a merger, can ipso facto save a defector from disqualification.

In 2010, 2021, and again in 2025, I introduced private member Bills in the Lok Sabha seeking to amend the Tenth Schedule. The 2025 bill proposes that a defector would cease to be a member of the House immediately and automatically. The scope of defection is proposed to be confined to voluntarily giving up the membership of the political party to which the legislator belongs, or defying a whip (only in respect of four matters: motions of confidence and no-confidence, adjournment motions, financial business and money Bills). The member so ceasing could, within 15 days, prefer a restoration petition before the presiding officer to justify the impugned act that is proposed to be mandatorily disposed of within 60 days.

In light of the grotesque emasculation of democracy on display, the time has come for Parliament to pass a single-line anti-defection law that any member who voluntarily gives up membership of a political party to which he belongs, or who defies the whip (in matters listed above) should forthwith cease to be a member of the House. The member may prefer a restoration petition before an independent tribunal (for Parliament, a tribunal headed by a sitting judge of the Supreme Court; for a state legislature, one headed by a sitting judge of the state high court) justifying the impugned act, and that tribunal must dispose of the matter within 90 days.

This would restore the primary bond between the legislator and the electorate while preserving the minimum party discipline and maintaining an ample space for honest dissent.

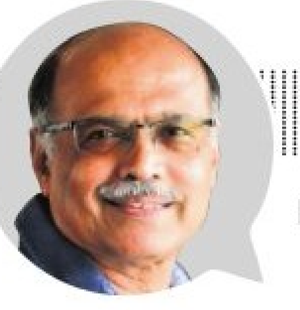
THE WEIGHT OF DEVOTEES' TRUST



G R GOPINATH

Founder, Air Deccan; former Captain, Indian Army

LIKE crores of Hindus, I grew up listening to stories during Harikatha performances from the Ramayana and revering Lord Ram as the embodiment of righteousness, duty and moral courage. In later years, I read the great poet Kuvempu's iteration of the epic.

For many Indians, Ram transcends theology—he is part of our cultural inheritance, much as Christmas is observed across the world even by many who have never opened a Bible.

It is precisely because of that enduring reverence that recent reports of alleged financial irregularities involving donations to the Ayodhya Ram temple have prompted an uncomfortable question. As the scandal is growing, what is both a paradox and a cause for concern is that charges are being levelled by saffron associates of the BJP and the heads of various Hindu orders.

Is the Ayodhya temple merely another place of worship, or does it occupy a unique place in India's contemporary public life? This is not a question about faith. Faith belongs to the realm of personal conscience. Nor is it a question about the legal dispute over Ayodhya, which has been settled through constitutional processes. The question is one of accountability.

Unlike most ancient temples that evolved gradually through centuries of patronage, pilgrimage and local devotion, the Ayodhya temple emerged from one of the most consequential political movements in independent India. Its journey from a disputed site to a grand national shrine was shaped not only by religious beliefs but also by political mobilisation, public campaigns, court proceedings, governmental action and intense national debate. Whether one applauds or criticises that journey, its political character is impossible to ignore. And it is precisely that character which imposes a special responsibility.

When political leaders and public institutions become closely identified with a religious project, they assume obligations extending beyond ordinary administration. Every rupee donated by a devotee represents trust. Every administrative decision acquires public significance. Every allegation of wrongdoing raises questions not only about the individuals involved, but also about the systems to safeguard public faith. This explains why reports of financial impropriety at Ayodhya attract attention far beyond the sums involved.

For decades, lakhs of people contributed to the Ayodhya movement not merely with money but with emotion, sacrifice and conviction. Some donated modest sums collected in villages; others travelled long distances to participate in pilgrimages and public gatherings. The temple, therefore, carries an accumulated moral investment that extends far beyond its account books. When questions arise about the handling of donations, what is placed at risk is not only financial credibility but also a reservoir of public trust built over generations.

Distinction must always be maintained between the sacred and those entrusted with administering the sacred. Lord Ram requires no defence from mere mortals. But institutions created in his name require honest stewardship. Perfection in managing institutions may be impossible, but vigilance isn't

The issue is not the amount; it's accountability. Financial irregularities occur in governments, corporations, charities and religious institutions. Temples are no more immune to human frailty than any other organisation. History teaches us that wherever money, influence and prestige accumulate, temptation follows. The real test lies elsewhere.

Are the mechanisms of oversight strong enough to detect wrongdoing promptly? Are investigations conducted transparently? Are those responsible held accountable? Can devotees be assured that their offerings are protected?

During my years in the Indian Army, I learned that institutions are judged not by the absence of misconduct but by the quality and speed of their response to it. Perfection is impossible; vigilance is not.

The Ayodhya temple, therefore, deserves standards of governance at least as rigorous as those expected of any major public trust in the country. Independent audits, transparent accounting, clear lines of responsibility and swift investigation of allegations should not be viewed as acts of suspicion. They are expressions of respect for the faith of crores.

Some may regard such scrutiny as an attack on the temple itself. I see it differently. A distinction must always be maintained between the sacred and those entrusted with administering the sacred. Lord Ram requires no defence from mortals. Institutions created in his name require honest stewardship.

Democracy functions best when citizens can ask questions without being branded disloyal and when institutions can answer those questions without feeling threatened. Accountability does not diminish faith. Properly understood, it protects it.

Amid the magnificence of a grand temple, the vast resources that have gone into its construction and the immense public emotion that sustains it, one cannot help recalling Rabindranath Tagore's celebrated lines: "Open thine eyes and see thy god is not before thee. He is there where the tiller is tilling the hard ground."

The reminder is not a rejection of worship but a call to humility. The worth of any religious institution lies not merely in the splendour of its structures but in the values it embodies and the integrity with which it serves those who repose their faith in it.

Ultimately, the measure of the Ayodhya temple's success will not lie in the grandeur of its architecture, the height of its spires or the size of the crowds and their offerings it attracts. It will lie in whether the principles invoked throughout its creation—truth, duty, rectitude, transparency and integrity—are reflected in its daily administration.

That would be the most fitting tribute to Lord Ram. (Views are personal)

Navy thwarts 2nd Somali piracy bid in 6 weeks, Indian rescued

Latest attack underlines worrying resurgence of Somali pirates after years of relative calm

JAVARIA RANA @ New Delhi

MARCOS commandos with the MV Golden Arsenal crew after the operation | EXPRESS

INDIAN Navy stealth frigate INS Trikand on Thursday foiled a piracy attack on a merchant vessel in the Gulf of Aden by deploying Marine Commandos (MARCOS) to secure the ship after Somali pirates damaged it and forced all 21 crew members, including an Indian national, to take refuge inside the vessel's citadel.

The vessel, MV Golden Arsenal, flagged in St Vincent and the Grenadines, was sailing from Aden in Yemen when it came under attack on Wednesday, around 300 nautical miles east northeast of Djibouti.

Sources in defence and security establishment said the mission was launched after an American P-8 maritime patrol aircraft detected suspicious activity over an open communication channel late on Wednesday. The alert was relayed through the Information Fusion Centre-Indian Ocean Region (IFC-IOR) in Gurugram, following which mission deployed INS Trikand was diverted to intercept the vessel. As the frigate closed in, it broadcast warning messages twice to both the merchant crew and the suspected pirates. By then, the attackers had damaged the vessel's bridge superstructure and adjoining compartments, sources said.

"The 21 crew members had locked themselves inside the ship's citadel and were reported safe. The saferoom is designed to provide basic control and communication facilities and can be secured from within during piracy attacks," a source said. With the crew sheltered inside, a MARCOS boarding team from INS Trikand boarded the vessel on Thursday morning to eliminate any remaining threat. "Following a thorough search, no suspicious personnel were found onboard. The crew subsequently exited the citadel safely and, along with Indian Navy personnel, commenced an assessment of the vessel's condition," the Navy said. The Navy's P-8I long-range maritime reconnaissance aircraft simultaneously maintained aerial surveillance over the area, strengthening maritime domain awareness and supporting the anti-piracy operation.

Declaring the mission complete, the Navy said the vessel had been sanitised, immediate threat neutralised and MV Golden Arsenal had resumed its voyage. "The Indian Navy remains committed to safeguarding merchant shipping, countering piracy and ensuring the safety and security of all seafarers in the region, irrespective of nationality," it said.

The latest attack underlines a worrying resurgence of Somali piracy after years of relative dormancy. Networks that had been largely dismantled through sustained multinational naval operations are again targeting commercial shipping across the western Indian Ocean, extending their reach beyond the Horn of Africa.

The threat has renewed concern among maritime security agencies. The Joint Maritime Information Centre raised its piracy threat assessment to "severe" in May following a string of hijackings involving fishing dhows and merchant vessels.

According to the Pretoria-based Institute for Security Studies, Somali pirate groups are now operating over 1,000 nautical miles from their coastline, using hijacked vessels as motherships to launch attacks deep into the Arabian Sea.

The fresh operation marks INS Trikand's second anti-piracy intervention in less than two weeks. Last month, the Russian-built Talwar class frigate responded to a distress call from MV Fareeda 5 following a suspected piracy attempt in the western Indian Ocean. In May, guided missile destroyer INS Kolkata thwarted an attempted hijacking of MV Mashallah 1 near the Gulf of Aden.

Govt set to amend anti-doping act, may bring bill in Monsoon session

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

THE Centre is set to amend the National Anti-Doping Act, 2025, with the proposed changes likely to be introduced during the upcoming Monsoon Session of Parliament, as India continues to top the Athletics Integrity Unit's (AIU) global list of doping offenders, sources said. The amendments seek to crack down on trafficking and organised supply of prohibited substances while keeping athletes outside the ambit of criminal prosecution for anti-doping rule violations alone.

The Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports has placed the draft amendments in the public domain for stakeholder consultation. The proposed framework seeks to criminalise organised doping-related activities and dismantle networks involved in the trafficking, illegal supply, administration and commercial distribution of performance-enhancing prohibited substances and methods.

The proposed amendments make offences such as trafficking, unauthorised sale and distribution of banned substances, administering prohibited substances to athletes for doping, supplying such substances to minors, organised criminal activities linked to doping, sale of prohibited substances without prescribed labelling, and advertisements or paid promotions promoting doping punishable under law.

Move after AIU snub

The move comes after the Athletics Integrity Unit's sanctions list again placed India among the globally, with 162 athletes and support personnel serving sanctions ahead of Kenya (148) and Russia (60).

The proposed provisions are not aimed at sportspersons, but illegal suppliers and organised criminal syndicates operating doping networks, a government source said. Athletes will not be treated as criminals merely for testing positive or violating anti-doping rules. Unless they are found to be involved in offences such as trafficking or organised crime, their cases will continue to be dealt with under the existing anti-doping framework, which will like "rare cases," said the source.

Sources said punishments for the offences would be in accordance with the provisions of the BNS, depending on the gravity of the offence. Trafficking and distribution of prohibited substances to athletes could attract a prison term of up to five years.

The objective is to break the organised supply chain behind doping rather than criminalise athletes who are already subject to sporting sanction

The move comes in the wake of the AIU's latest sanctions list once again placed India among the globally, with 162 athletes and support personnel serving sanctions ahead of Kenya (148) and Russia (60). The AIU list includes sanctions arising not only from positive tests but also from violations such as tampering with samples, evading testing, trafficking and whereabouts failures. Officials said the amendments are intended to strengthen India's anti-doping regime by aligning it closely with international standards, enhancing institutional independence, improving procedural clarity and ensuring faster adjudication of doping-related disputes.

The parent legislation was enacted to give domestic legal effect to India's obligations under the UNESCO Convention against Doping in Sport. The proposed amendments are aimed at enhancing the credibility of India's anti-doping framework.

SC calls for zero tolerance on fake AI verdicts, sets aside NCLT judgment

SUCHITRA KALYAN MOHANTY
@ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Thursday quashed an order of the National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT), finding that it relied on "non-existent, fake, and hallucinated" AI-generated judgment precedents, and warned strictly that courts must adopt a zero-tolerance approach to such citations.

"The production of fake, non-existent, and hallucinated material and its use as precedent in law is like the release of methyl isocyanate in the province of law and justice: invisible, insidious, and catastrophic by the time anyone notices. It not only contaminates but drains the very lifeblood of judicial determination," remarked a Bench of Justices PS Narasimha and Alok Aradhe.

The court made these observations after hearing an appeal in the Essel Infraprojects insolvency case. The Court noted that the NCLT had based its findings on several citations that were "fictitious" and appeared to have been generated by AI tools. The Bench found that the tribunal had relied on fabricated judgment precedents. The Bench highlighted that judicial decisions must be anchored in authentic, verifiable law. "AI may assist research, but it cannot substitute verification. Neither can a judge delegate reasoning to software, nor can counsel avoid accountability for filings," the judgment of the apex court stated.

Allowing the appeal, the Court set aside the NCLT's March 18, 2026, order and remanded the matter for a fresh hearing. It directed the tribunal to decide the dispute uninfluenced by the fake precedents and strictly in accordance with existing legal principles.

The Bench said, "A zero-tolerance policy is needed across courts and tribunals against reliance on non-existent case law. The harm to the rule of law is identical whether the lapse is human or machine-driven."

Int'l air ticket prices likely to go down

S LALITHA @ New Delhi

FLYERS are set to get some relief from the exorbitant air fares levied on most international routes in the last four months ever since the West Asia crisis broke. The fuel surcharge cess, a crucial component of the air fare, has been reduced by the Air India from July 1. The other airlines may follow suit soon as government directives mandate passing on the relief to the customers.

Crude oil prices dipped to less than $70 (₹6,666) per barrel on June 30, the lowest since the West Asia conflict began on February 28. It is reliably learnt that the Air India on Wednesday announced a reduction in its international fuel surcharge cess by 38% for its Europe and UK routes while it is down by 28.5% on the Australia and the North America routes. "The reduction will definitely be passed on to the customers. Even if it goes down by a small figure, it would be substantial savings for the public as even 10 per cent on a ticket fare of ₹1 lakh will work out to ₹10,000 for a flyer," a source said.

The Air India had officially announced the revision of its fuel surcharge to Europe (including the UK) to $205 (₹19,520) per passenger from the midnight of April 10. It has been reduced to $125 (₹11,900) now. The airline had also announced then that there would be $280 (₹26,664) surcharge for North America and Australia which will now be reduced to $200 (₹10,045) "These are substantial reductions," another source added.

IndiGo did not respond officially on the issue. It is reliably learnt that IndiGo, which is among the three major international airlines from India, also must reduce its international fare as it is a government mandate that "passing through" of the benefit happens to the public, a source said. The Air India Express said that it would get back on the issue of fare reduction.

Spicejet, which operates to Dubai internationally, said that it had not effected any increase in the international surcharge cess earlier. "We did not increase the prices during the peak of the crisis. So, this does not apply to us." The domestic aviation turbine fuel too came down on July 1 from ₹1.10 lakh per kilo litre from ₹1.25 per kilo litre. However, it is unlikely that this reduction will be passed on to consumers, said an airline source.

Air India Express on Thursday announced that it has restored connectivity to all destinations across its West Asia network with the resumption of services to Salalah in Oman and Kuwait. Flights on the Kozhikode–Salalah route resume from July 2. Services between Kozhikode and Kuwait resume from July 3, while flights between Bengaluru and Kuwait begin from July 4, with frequencies increasing in phases over the coming days.

The Kozhikode–Salalah service will operate twice every week. Services between Kozhikode and Kuwait will operate once a week from July 3.

NHAI blames rainwater stagnation for cave-in

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

DELHI-DEHRADUN EXPRESSWAY

Portion of Delhi-Dehradun expressway near Shamli in UP caved in on Tuesday

Viral videos taken by commuters showed cave-in after heavy rains

Expressway has max speed limit of 100 kmph, making cave-in dangerous

MoRTH blamed villagers who have resisted creation of drainage system

Drain culvert being used by villagers for crossing the expressway

Cave-in detected and repaired by authorities, said MoRTH

WITH the cave-ins on the newly constructed Delhi-Dehradun Economic Corridor causing criticism, the National Highways Authority of India (NHAI) said on Thursday that the road collapses happened due to localised water stagnation after rains as cross-drainage system at the location was not operational. The drainage system at the location could not be connected and commissioned because of the sustained resistance from the local residents, it further stated.

A portion of the expressway at Gogwan Jalalpur near Shamli in Uttar Pradesh sank on Tuesday. The expressway was inaugurated in April.

"A road surface cave-in observed at Km 55+480 on the Delhi-Dehradun Economic Corridor on 1 July 2026 was the result of localized water stagnation following rainfall previous night, coupled with constraint in commissioning the permanent cross-drainage system at the location... The damaged portion was repaired on priority, ensuring safe and uninterrupted movement of traffic," read a statement issued by the Ministry of Road Transport and Highways (MoRTH).

Several videos and images of cave-ins on the corridor on social media went viral. However, MoRTH said that the project team had detected the affected part of the stretch during routine route patrolling in the early hours of Tuesday and immediately initiated restoration works. The damaged portion was repaired on priority, ensuring safe and uninterrupted movement of traffic, it stated.

It further said that the balancing culvert was constructed at the location to facilitate cross-drainage by conveying rainwater across the median and safely away from the carriageway. "The culvert could not be connected and commissioned because of sustained resistance from local residents, who have not permitted integration of the drainage system and have instead been using the culvert opening as a vehicular crossing. Consequently, the intended cross-drainage arrangement has remained non-operational, leading to accumulation of rainwater along the carriageway during the heavy rainfall and the subsequent road surface cave-in," the ministry added.

The six-lane high access controlled expressway, built at the cost of ₹12,000 crore, with operational speed limit of 100 kmph starts from Akshardham Temple in Delhi and passes through many districts of Uttar Pradesh, such as Baghpat, Baraut, Muzaffarnagar, Shamli and Saharanpur, and ends in Dehradun in Uttarakhand.

The ministry said that permanent slope protection and chute drain works at the location remain pending due to an ongoing land-related arbitration dispute. "Despite repeated efforts by the NHAI, the concerned landowners have not permitted execution of these works. As a result, the permanent protection measures envisaged under the project design could not be completed at the site," MoRTH said.

According to the ministry, to address the issue, NHAI has already initiated construction of an interim parallel drain of a length of approximately 1.5 kilometres. The drainage gradient is being redesigned to safely convey rainwater up to the entry or exit location, pending commissioning of the balancing culvert.

"NHAI is continuously monitoring the affected location and has deployed all necessary resources to ensure smooth and safe movement of traffic. The pending permanent slope protection and chute drain works will be taken up immediately upon resolution of the land-related dispute and availability of an unhindered work front," it also added.

Drug licensing framework expanded to cover gene, cell therapies, says govt

KAVITA BAJELI-DATT @ New Delhi

IN a significant step towards strengthening the regulatory oversight of advanced and emerging medical technologies, the Centre has amended the Drugs Rules, 1945 to bring cell or stem cell derived products, gene therapeutic products and others under the ambit of the Centrally License Approving Authority (CLAA) framework.

Under the Drugs and Cosmetics Act, certain specified categories of critical drugs and biological products are under the joint regulatory supervision of the central and state regulators. These include vaccines, large volume parenterals (IV solutions > 100 ml) and r-DNA based medicines. This set is being expanded with this amendment to cover additional emerging technologies.

Cell or stem cell derived products such as stem cell-based regenerative treatments, CAR-T cell therapies have seen increasing use in treatment of blood cancers such as leukemias and lymphomas.

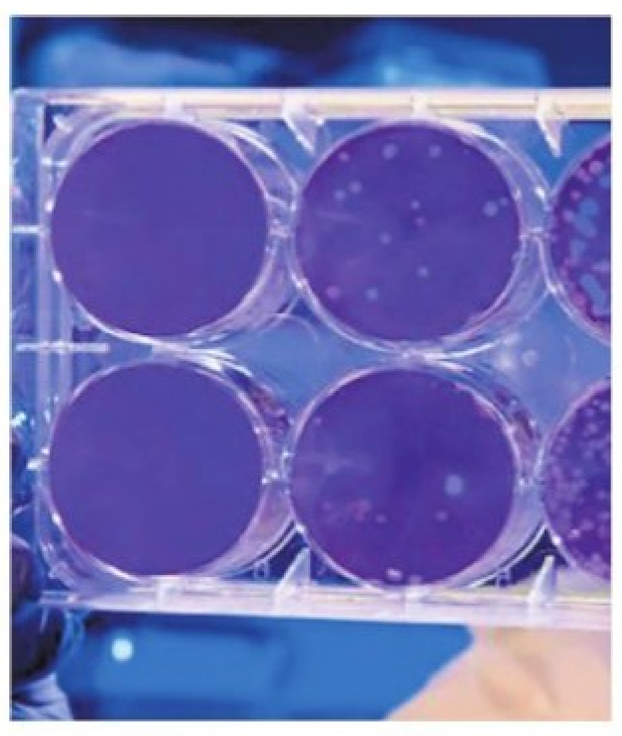
Gene therapeutic products such as gene replacement and gene editing products have found use in treating genetic disorders and various types of cancers.

Xenografts are animal tissue-derived products such as heart valves which can be transplanted into humans. These have use in cardiology and orthopedics.

As these technologies represent highly complex, specialized and rapidly evolving areas of medical science, they need enhanced regulatory scrutiny to ensure patient safety, officials said.

The inclusion of these products under the CLAA framework will facilitate a system of joint oversight by the central and State Licensing Authorities, thereby ensuring uniformity in regulatory standards across the country. The amendment will increase regulatory rigour for emerging technologies and reinforcing India's regulatory framework in line with scientific advancements and global best practices.

"This initiative reflects the government's continued commitment towards safeguarding public health while promoting innovation and quicker adoption of latest technologies in healthcare and life sciences sectors," the official said.



More tech to be added to current set of vaccines

Under the Drugs and Cosmetics Act, certain specified categories of critical drugs and biological products are under the joint regulatory supervision of the central and state regulating agencies. These include vaccines, large volume parenterals (IV solutions > 100 ml) and r-DNA based medicines. This set is being currently expanded with this amendment to cover additional emerging technologies.

Landslides block Badrinath highway, disrupting Char Dham pilgrimage ● Shiv Sena deputy mayor demands resignation of city's BJP mayor

Kedarnath & Adi Kailash yatras hit by heavy rains

NARENDRA SETHI @ Dehradun

Worst impact on Srinagar-Rudraprayag stretch

The worst impact was reported on the Srinagar-Rudraprayag stretch, where heavy debris and large boulders came crashing down from the hillside at Sirobagad, forcing a closure of the Badrinath highway. Hundreds of vehicles remained stranded on both sides of the road, while thousands of pilgrims and tourists waited for the route to reopen.

HEAVY rain across Uttarakhand's hill districts has disrupted the Char Dham pilgrimage, with the Badrinath highway blocked due to landslides at the vulnerable Sirobagad slide zone. The administration has suspended fresh permits for the Adi Kailash and Om Parvat journeys.

The worst impact was reported on the Srinagar-Rudraprayag stretch, where heavy debris and large boulders came crashing down from the hillside at Sirobagad, forcing a closure of the Badrinath highway. Hundreds of vehicles remained stranded on both sides of the road, while thousands of pilgrims, tourists, local residents and essential service vehicles waited for the route to reopen.

The blockade has affected movement towards both Kedarnath and Badrinath. Officials said road-clearing agencies were at work, but continuous rockfall and falling debris were hampering restoration efforts. Sirobagad, considered one of the most troublesome landslide zones on the Badrinath highway for nearly three decades, has again emerged as a major hurdle for the pilgrimage season. "Every monsoon, this stretch slows down or stops the pace of the Char Dham Yatra," an official said. In Rudraprayag, heavy rain brought debris onto the pedestrian route at Gaurikund, the gateway to Kedarnath. Stones and debris were also reported at several points along the Rishikesh-Kedarnath highway.

Rudraprayag District Magistrate Vishal Mishra said, "The meteorological department has predicted heavy to very heavy rainfall in the district till July 4. The administration is working with full alertness." He appealed to pilgrims, tourists and local residents to exercise caution. "People are advised not to go near rivers, streams and seasonal drains, avoid unnecessary travel and strictly follow the guidelines issued by the administration," Mishra added. Meanwhile, in Kumaon, the Pithoragarh district administration has temporarily stopped the Adi Kailash and Om Parvat journeys due to bad weather in high Himalayan areas.

Cracks in MahaYuti after Mumbai manhole death

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

BMC commissioner too faces call to step down

Shiv Sena deputy mayor Sanjay Ghadi demanded the resignation of mayor Ritu Tawade who belongs to the BJP, exposing differences between the MahaYuti alliance partners over alleged civic apathy. He also called on the Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) Commissioner Ashwini Bhide to resign over the death of Aslam Sheikh.

AS a 60-year-old man died after falling into an uncovered manhole in Mumbai amid heavy rains on Thursday, the Shiv Sena deputy mayor Sanjay Ghadi demanded the resignation of mayor Ritu Tawade who belongs to the BJP, exposing differences between the MahaYuti alliance partners over alleged civic apathy.

Ghadi also demanded that Brihanmumbai Municipal Corporation (BMC) Commissioner Ashwini Bhide resign over the death of Aslam Sheikh, second rain-related death reported in the city this week. An 11-year-old boy was earlier killed after a peepal tree fell on a school bus in eastern Mumbai. "I had sounded alert about open manholes and pending tenders for covering them, but no action was taken by the mayor and the BMC commissioner. Both should take responsibility for the death of the person and resign," Gadhi said.

Commissioner Bhide ordered a probe and suspended assistant municipal commissioner Dhanaji Harlekar and four other officers for not covering the manholes and holding them responsible for the death.

Inspecting the site, Ghadi said he had not only written a letter to BMC chief Bhide but also met her in person to inform that the pending tenders for covering the manholes need to be cleared. "But our commissioner did not react. We elected representatives are blamed for not doing work. Here BMC chief Bhide and mayor are responsible. They should take the responsibility and step down immediately," Ghadi said.

"I have apprised our leader Deputy CM Eknath Shinde of the facts and urged him to take strict action. We cannot let the people die in open manholes," he said, adding that the BMC will file a case against the contractor, holding him responsible for "homicide".

Shiv Sena Rajya Sabha MP Milind Deora also targeted the MahaYuti-led BMC over the manhole death. "Another life lost. Another preventable tragedy. How many more Mumbaikars must die before basic civic safety becomes a priority?," he said.

MANIPUR

Violence erupts again, 20 village houses burnt

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

AFTER a lull for a few days, violence in Manipur involving Naga and Kuki communities has resumed. The Kuki Inpi Jiribam, Tamenglong and Noney condemned Thursday's early morning arson attack at Leikot Kuki village in Noney district, allegedly carried out by the rebel group NSCN-IM.

The organisation said the village volunteers had attempted to defend the village with "limited resources and licenced single-barrel firearms" but the attackers used sophisticated weapons, including mortar shells. "Unable to withstand the assault, the village volunteers were compelled to withdraw, following which Leikot Kuki Village was reportedly set ablaze and extensively damaged," the organisation alleged in a statement.

It appealed to state and Central governments to immediately institute a "thorough and impartial" investigation into the incident, identify the perpetrators, and ensure that justice is delivered at the earliest. "Failure to address the grievances of the affected people and bring the perpetrators to justice may further aggravate the prevailing situation and lead to undesirable consequences," it warned.

Maha halt to RTI rules change after Hazare stir threat

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AFTER social activist Anna Hazare's indefinite hunger strike announcement, Maharashtra Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis has ordered an immediate stay on the controversial amendments to Right to Information (RTI) rules.

The Maharashtra Right to Information Rules, 2026, proposed several changes, including a higher application fee, mandatory identity proof and a restriction that each application should deal with one subject.

Fadnavis on Thursday asked the chief commissioner of RTI to stay the new notified rules.

Hazare had urged the government to withdraw the notified rules, alleging that they dilute the spirit of the RTI Act and make it more difficult for citizens to access government information. He had threatened to launch an indefinite hunger strike from July 5 if the amendments to the RTI rules were not withdrawn.

In a memorandum addressed to CM Fadnavis, Hazare claimed that the new rules introduce procedural hurdles, higher costs and complications in the appeal process, thereby weakening accountability.

Hazare alleged that the rules were framed without public consultation and demanded that the government revoke them and prepare fresh rules after consulting RTI experts, information commissioners, social activists, lawyers, journalists and citizens.

According to a notification issued by the General Administration Department and published in the official gazette on June 12, the new rules came into force immediately upon publication.

Under the new rules, applicants seeking information under the RTI Act will have to pay an application fee of ₹730. The rules provide that an RTI application should ordinarily be confined to a single subject and not exceed 150 words. Where multiple subjects are included, the PIO may process only the first subject and advise the applicant to file separate applications for the remaining issues.

Submit reply on claims, EC asks TMC factions

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

AS the battle for control over the TMC intensified and reached to the Election Commission (EC), the poll panel has asked both the factions, each one led by former Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee and Leader of Opposition in West Bengal Assembly Ritabrata Banerjee to submit details regarding organisational elections and authorised signatories by Monday evening.

A senior official in the EC said, "The commission has written letters to both Mamta Banerjee and Ritabrata Banerjee regarding the claims and counter claims by both factions with respect to organisational elections/authorised signatories of All India Trinamool Congress (AITC)." The official went on to add that the two factions have been asked to submit their responses by "5:30 PM on Monday, July 06, 2026."

Meanwhile earlier in the day the Ritabrata-led faction met the full bench of the EC and staked its claim to the party's official name and twin-flower election symbol. Following the meeting with Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar and the two Election Commissioners, the rebel camp said the poll panel had given it a "patient hearing" and expressed hope that it would respond to the submissions soon.

NTA's answer key officially stating the remedies for the two blunders | NTA

JUST when the NEET-UG controversy appeared to be dying down after the successful completion of the June 21 re-exam, it has come to light that the Physics question paper had two blunders in it.

One question had no correct answer and the National Testing Agency (NTA) will be dropping it, resulting in four bonus marks to all students. Another question had two answers, both of which will be treated as correct.

Despite repeated requests, neither the NTA nor the Education Ministry was ready to come out with an official statement on the blunders.

The exam had 180 multiple choice questions in all with four marks awarded for each correct answer. It was split into 45 questions each for Physics, Chemistry, Botany and Zoology for a total of 720 marks.

Harpreet Singh, a reputed Physics teacher and Director at Visionary Masters in Delhi, shared the queries with this paper.

"The question on Vernier Callipers has four answer options. All four are wrong. The correct answer is 1.6 cm and it does not figure among the options for question 40," he said. The other blunder is the query on electromagnetic waves. "While ideally there should be only one answer for a question, both the answers 3 and 4 are correct for this question numbered 22," Singh said.

The NTA portal states, "If none of the options is correct or a question is wrong or is dropped, all candidates who appeared will be given four marks irrespective of whether the question has been attempted or not attempted by the candidate."

NTA also stated that in the case of a question with two answers, the bonus marks will be awarded only to those students who have chosen either of the two as options.

J&K Chief Minister Omar Abdullah is all set to go for cabinet expansion which he said could happen either before the protest in Delhi for statehood or after it. Sources said many NC legislators are lobbying for ministerial berths, so also independent MLAs backing the government. The CM is considering a reshuffle alongside the expansion, with possibilities of dropping some ministers. Omar faces a dilemma regarding ally Congress, which has six MLAs but refused to join the cabinet until statehood is restored.

HC raps Raj govt over dacoit's murder in jail, seeks report on security lapses

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

RAJASTHAN HIGH COURT

Kin want impartial probe

Vishnu, an undertrial in a murder case, allegedly strangled Gurjar with a towel inside the prison barrack. Prison staff found the body during routine rounds, and Vishnu allegedly admitted the crime. However, Gurjar's family rejected the official version and sought an impartial investigation.

THE Rajasthan HC on Thursday expressed serious concern over the murder of former dacoit Jagan Gurjar inside Ajmer High Security Jail and questioned prison security.

A division bench of Acting Chief Justice S.P. Sharma and Justice Manish Sharma, hearing a suo motu public interest matter on prison reforms and inmate welfare, took suo motu cognisance of the killing and expanded the case to examine alleged security failures.

The court asked the Rajasthan government for a detailed explanation of the events leading to the murder. It asked whether CCTV cameras were functioning, what footage had been recorded, whether surveillance gaps existed, and whether any prison officials were held responsible. The bench remarked, "What is happening inside Rajasthan's prisons?" It noted poor CCTV monitoring, lack of effective live surveillance, continued use of mobile phones, and said even the Chief Minister had received threats from inside jail. The court also observed that organised criminal gangs continued operating from prisons.

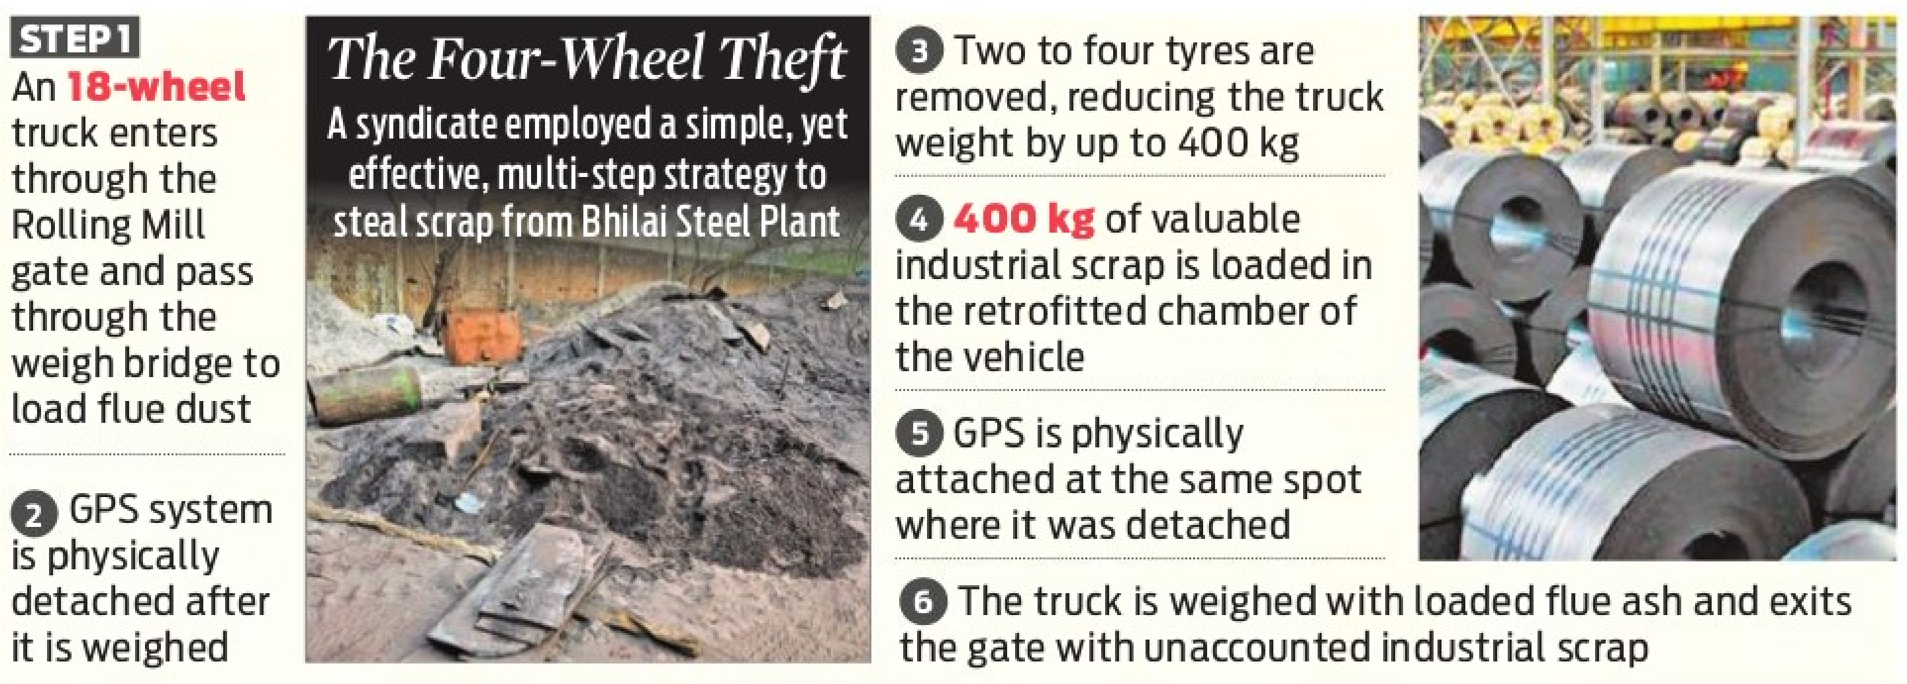
Amicus curiae Pratik Kasliwal informed the court that earlier directions to improve prison security were not properly implemented. Previous reports had highlighted non-functional CCTV cameras and poor connectivity.

Jagan Gurjar was killed inside Ajmer High Security Jail on June 29. Vishnu, an undertrial in a murder case, allegedly strangled Gurjar with a towel inside the prison barrack. Prison staff found the body during routine rounds, and Vishnu allegedly admitted the crime.

The court said its inquiry would examine prison surveillance, administrative accountability, and the overall security framework.

Security breach in Bhilai Steel Plant blamed

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur



The Four-Wheel Theft

A syndicate employed a simple, yet effective, multi-step strategy to steal scrap from Bhilai Steel Plant

STEP 1 An 18-wheel truck enters through the Rolling Mill gate and pass through the weigh bridge to load flue dust

② GPS system is physically detached after it is weighed

③ Two to four tyres are removed, reducing the truck weight by up to 400 kg

④ 400 kg of valuable industrial scrap is loaded in the retrofitted chamber of the vehicle

⑤ GPS is physically attached at the same spot where it was detached

⑥ The truck is weighed with loaded flue ash and exits the gate with unaccounted industrial scrap

A day after police busted a years-long steel scrap theft racket operating inside Steel Authority of India Limited's flagship Bhilai Steel Plant after uncovering the theft of 250 tonnes of industrial scrap, more details are emerging. The racket involved smuggling massive quantities of valuable steel scrap out of the high-security plant. Police suspect it operated through an insider nexus and by exploiting security loopholes, disabling GPS tracking systems and using concealed truck compartments to evade detection.

During questioning, arrested transporter Sanjay Singh described how the network bypassed both digital surveillance and physical security checks. According to police, trucks entered the plant through the Rolling Mill gate and passed the weighbridge to load flue dust. Operators then detached the vehicles' mandatory GPS tracking devices, allowing them to leave their authorised routes without triggering any alerts. The trucks later returned to the same spot the GPS devices had been removed. The trackers were reinstalled before the vehicles exited through the main gate, making the trips appear routine.

Investigators also uncovered several physical methods allegedly used to evade detection. In one technique, operators removed two or four tyres from 18-wheel trucks after entering the plant. The reduction in the vehicle's own weight allowed an equivalent quantity of valuable steel scrap to be loaded without raising suspicion at weighbridges.

Police said several trucks had also been modified with concealed compartments designed to hide industrial scrap. The scrap was allegedly buried beneath thick layers of industrial ash and flue dust, enabling a single truck to smuggle out between 15 and 20 tonnes of high-value material.

"It seems that security agencies failed to effectively detect several ingenious physical manipulation tactics deployed by the network," said Vijay Agrawal, Durg Senior Superintendent of Police. The disclosures have strengthened suspicions of an insider nexus. Police believe plant officials and security personnel may have ignored repeated irregularities in vehicle movements.

Aceh couple flogged over TikTok kiss

An unmarried couple was publicly flogged in Aceh on Thursday after kissing during a TikTok livestream. The pair received 21 cane lashes each under the province's sharia law. Authorities said it was the first punishment for violating Islamic law through social media. Amnesty International called the caning discriminatory and urged authorities to end corporal punishment, saying it has no place in a just and humane society. Another couple received 27 lashes for physical intimacy, while two men were caned for gambling the same day. Dozens of onlookers watched it.

11-year-old drives over nine monks

An 11-year-old boy driving a pickup truck ploughed into a group of monks on a pilgrimage, killing nine and injuring 13, officials said Thursday. Five monks died at the scene and four later in hospital, while three of the injured remained in critical condition. Security camera footage showed the monks walking in a single file along a roadside before the vehicle veered off the road and struck them. The boy is in custody, and police are investigating the cause of the crash. The monks had begun their pilgrimage only about 30 minutes before the tragedy.

US-IRAN TO HOLD NEXT ROUND OF INDIRECT NEGOTIATIONS AFTER KHAMENEI FUNERAL

DIPLOMACY HOLDS AFTER TALKS; IRAN TELLS TANKERS TO USE APPROVED ROUTES

DOHA

THE next indirect US-Iran talks will come after the late Iranian supreme leader's funeral, mediators said Thursday, as diplomacy inches ahead on ending the West Asia war.

Following the foes' indirect discussions in Doha on Wednesday, US President Donald Trump as well as mediators Qatar and Pakistan offered signs that diplomacy was holding, despite exchanges of fire this week. An interim deal was agreed to reopen the vital Strait of Hormuz and end hostilities, but major questions still need to be tackled in talks, including Iran's nuclear programme.

"Qatari and Pakistani mediators concluded separate meetings with the US and Iranian negotiators in Doha, with positive progress made," Pakistan said on Thursday.

Islamabad added the sides agreed to keep talking, "with the next meeting to be set at the earliest possible time following the funeral processions of the former Iranian Supreme Leader."

WAR WATCH

Shipping route warning

Iran's joint military command warned on Thursday that all oil tankers moving through the Strait of Hormuz must use its approved routes or face a "forceful response," ratcheting up tensions again over a waterway crucial for international energy supplies.

The statement from the Khatam al-Anbiya military command, reported by Iranian state television, comes after both US and Iranian diplomats met with mediators Wednesday in Qatar. It wasn't immediately clear what sparked the threat from Iran. However, the US military's Central Command had put out a statement about a meeting with officials from West Asia nations in Bahrain that said "leaders underscored their shared commitment to the free flow of commerce through" the strait. AFP/AP

Iran says funeral turnout must avenge Khamenei

TEHRAN: Iran's parliament speaker Mohammad Bagher Ghalibaf urged a massive public turnout for Ali Khamenei's funeral, saying it should send a message of vengeance to the world. Authorities expect 15-20 million mourners at at ceremonies beginning on Saturday.

Iran to use frozen Qatar funds for imports

TEHRAN: Iran will use part of its frozen assets in Qatar to buy essential goods, Deputy Foreign Minister Kazem Gharibabadi said after Doha talks. Officials reviewed spending from an initial $6 billion, though details on releasing the funds under the US-Iran agreement remain unclear.

Russia bombards Kyiv, killing 21 in retaliatory strikes

KYIV

RUSSIA hammered Kyiv in an 11-hour drone and missile attack overnight into Thursday morning, killing at least 21 civilians in the city and injuring scores more in what Moscow said was retaliation for Ukrainian strikes on Russian oil facilities.

Loud explosions shook the Ukrainian capital, where more than 50,000 people sheltered in subway stations after authorities issued air raid warnings, the Kyiv Metro said. Emergency crews dug through the rubble of collapsed and charred apartment buildings all day in search of victims. Russia's Defense Ministry said in a statement that the bombardment was in response to Ukraine's recent barrage of long-range strikes, which have caused severe fuel shortages and put pressure on President Vladimir Putin.

Ukraine's frequent attacks inside Russia — described by Zelenskyy as a 40-day blitz — have especially targeted oil refineries, causing a fuel crisis that has frustrated Russians already feeling the war's economic toll.

More than four years after Moscow's full-scale invasion of its neighbor, Ukraine's technological advances in drone engineering have in recent months given it an edge, analysts and Western officials say. Its strikes on supply routes behind the front line have robbed the Russian army of momentum on the battlefield and made its progress slow and costly, they say. AP

1 Govt has reportedly asked Telegram and Signal why the messaging apps should be allowed to have the username feature

SECURITY ISSUES

Govt issues notices to Telegram, Signal over username features

Official says purpose of exercise is to examine if such features could facilitate cybercrime

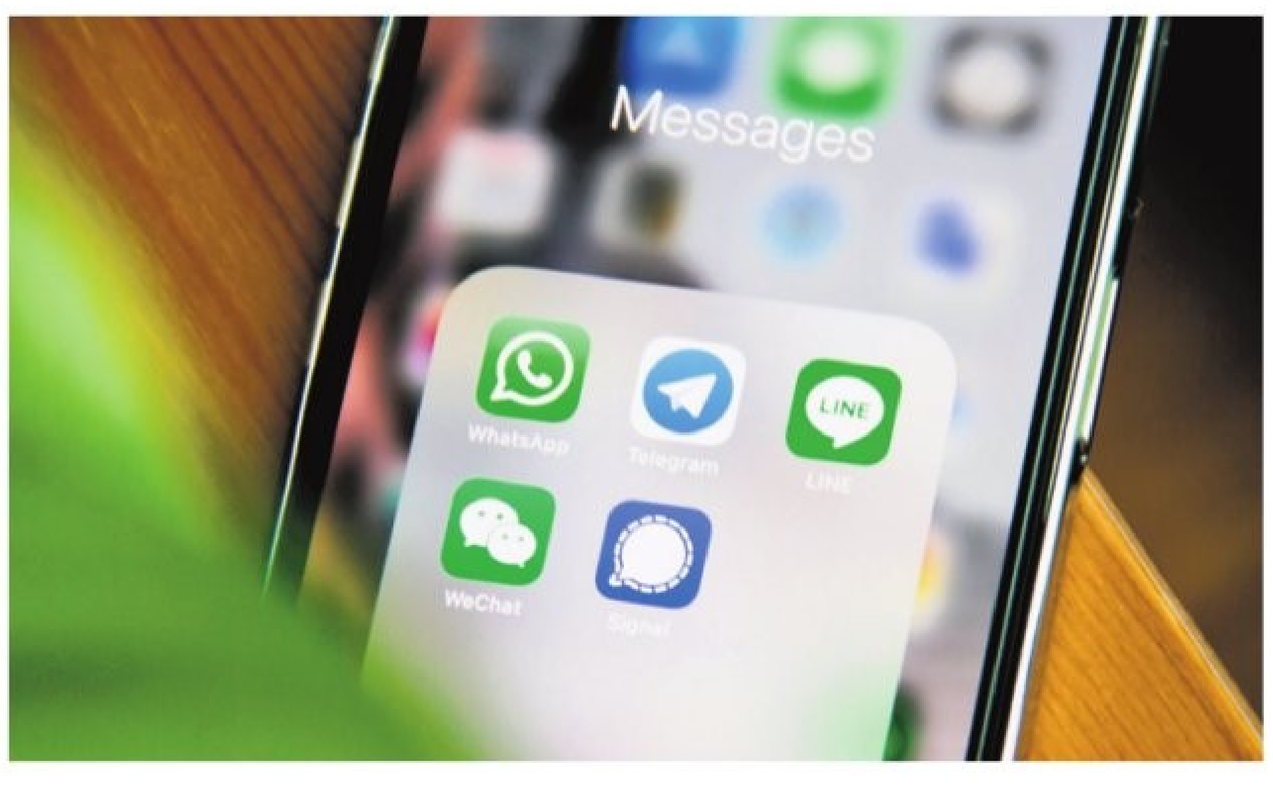
RAKESH KUMAR @New Delhi

AFTER sending a notice to WhatsApp over its new username feature, the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) has sent similar notices to other messaging platforms offering username-based communication, including Telegram and Signal.

As per a government official, the notice sent to WhatsApp was not intended only for the Meta-owned platform, MeitY has issued similar notices to Telegram and Signal. The official said the purpose of the exercise is to examine whether such features could facilitate cybercrime and online fraud.

"This notice was not meant for only one company, but the government will send notices to all other companies operating on the same model in the country," said the official.

The ministry had earlier issued a notice to Meta-owned instant messaging platform WhatsApp over its newly announced username feature ahead of its rollout.



This notice was not meant for only one company, but the government will send notices to all other companies operating on the same model in the country — Government official

The government has also directed Meta not to roll out the feature until consultations on the matter are over.

The feature will allow WhatsApp users to connect with others without revealing their mobile numbers. Once available, users can share their username instead of their phone number while starting a new conversation. According to the company, it adds another layer of privacy by allowing users to communicate without revealing their mobile numbers.

The feature is similar to Telegram, where users connect through usernames instead of phone numbers. However, the official said Telegram earlier had a limited user base, whereas WhatsApp is used across the country. Therefore, the government has taken a stricter view of WhatsApp's username feature.

Founded by Pavel and Nikolai Durov in 2013 and headquartered in Dubai, United Arab Emirates, Telegram is used by roughly 40 million Indians, accounting for about 10.4% of the platform's global user base—more than any other single country. The platform is widely used by students for educational content, study groups and course material distribution.

The app had previously faced government scrutiny. Temporary restrictions were imposed on Telegram in India ahead of the NEET (UG) re-examination, and its editing features were disabled until June 30, 2026. The government cited the alleged misuse of Telegram channels and groups that promised students access to the NEET re-examination paper in exchange for money.

According to reports, several channels openly advertised purported leaked question papers and charged candidates anywhere from a few thousand rupees to several lakhs.

Banks may log 4% QoQ fall in net income in Q1

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

WITH the transmission of the repo rate cuts nearly complete across banks, lenders are likely to report muted margin growth in the first quarter of financial year 2026-27 as they are forced to offer higher prices to attract deposits given the lag between the loan growth of 17.7% and the 12% incremental deposit mobilisation, as per analysts.

This will have a system-wide net profit growth of annualised 9.6% but a likely decline of 4% sequentially, Motilal Oswal said in Q1 preview on Thursday.

"On the profitability front, we estimate net interest incomes to improve by 10.9% year-on-year and 3.5% quarter-on-quarter (QoQ) system-wide. Private banks' net income to grow by 10.1% YoY/fall by 1.7% sequentially while for PSUs net income will grow 9% YoY and likely to decline by 6.6% QoQ. System-wide net income to grow by 9.6% YoY and fall by 4% sequentially," Motilal Oswal analysts said.

According to them, margins (net interest margin) of state-run banks are likely to remain range-bound in the first quarter as the external benchmark-linked loans have largely absorbed the full rate cut impact. Going forward, changes in product mix are likely to be the key driver of yield movements. A few banks have changed the deposit rates already.

Among mid-sized private sector banks, they expect margin expansion for IndusInd Bank, Federal and DCB, while their larger peers like HDFC Bank, ICICI Bank and Axis Bank are likely to report a marginal fall in NIMs, while Kotak Bank will see moderation and NIMs are likely to decline 13 bps sequentially. Overall margins may remain stable in a narrow range. Meanwhile, credit growth touched 17.7% (as of June 15) in the reporting quarter led by mid-sized private banks.

This higher loan demand is driven by higher working capital demand amid rising input costs; the regulatory shift in focus from LDR to the LCR/NSFR framework, and a surge in corporate borrowings following the rise in bond yields.

"However, we expect growth to likely moderate to around 14% for the full fiscal. We expect banks to deliver loan growth of 1.2-5.4% sequentially in Q1. State-run banks are likely to remain relatively subdued with less than 3% growth, while mid-sized private banks such as AU, RBL, DCB, and IDFC are expected to outperform with loan growth of 3.9-5.4% while ICICI Bank to lead with around 4% loan growth among large private players," they said. On the other hand, deposit growth stood at 12% aided by an increase in the money multiplier but continues to trail loan growth, resulting in greater reliance on wholesale deposits.

On the profitability front, we estimate net interest incomes to improve by 10.9% year-on-year and 3.5% quarter-on-quarter (QoQ) system-wide

Beer major Carlsberg India files for ₹6,700 cr IPO, issue entirely OFS

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @Mumbai

THE country's second-largest beer maker Carlsberg India, the local arm of Danish brewing major Carlsberg Group, has filed for a $700 million (₹6,700 crore) IPO through the confidential route and the issue may hit the market towards the end of the calendar year.

The brewer submitted a confidential pre-filed draft papers to the SEBI on Wednesday, according to a company statement issued on Thursday, which also said the timing of the proposed share sale will depend on regulatory approvals and prevailing market conditions.

Confidential filing allows companies to submit IPO documents to the regulator without immediately making them public, enabling them to keep details of the offering private until closer to the launch. "Carlsberg India has submitted a confidential pre-filed draft red herring prospectus to the SEBI," the company said without offering the issue size.

However, sources said the Carlsberg India issue is likely to be about $700 million or ₹6,700 crore. The offer is structured as only an offer for sale (OFS), with no fresh issue and the company is looking at a post-issue valuation of about $4 billion. It has also appointed Kotak Mahindra Capital, JP Morgan Chase, and Citigroup as lead managers.

Carlsberg India controls nearly 22% of the market share with 14 breweries. The parent had in August 2024 gained 100% control of the local unit. The company entered the country in 2007, and operates 14 breweries, including eight company-owned ones and six in contract manufacturing mode.

Global alcohol companies have increasingly been evaluating ways to unlock value from their Indian operations as they seek to benefit from rising consumption in the fastest-growing economy. French liquor major Pernod Ricard is also reportedly exploring a potential listing of its India business and has appointed advisers for the process.

AI Express restores all West Asia flights

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

AIR INDIA Express has restored connectivity to all destinations across its West Asia network with the resumption of services to Salalah in Oman and Kuwait. The budget carrier of the Air India group had temporarily suspended flights across West Asia in the wake of the war between the US-Israel coalition and Iran, during which the region witnessed heavy bombardment and frequent airspace closure.

The West Asia crisis, which began on February 28 and triggered a sharp rise in energy prices, including jet fuel, is now in the final stage, with the related parties continuing to hold peace talks. Energy prices, including jet fuel prices, which account for 30-40% of an airline's operating cost, have seen a sharp fall in recent weeks.

Earlier on Friday, Air India Chief Executive Officer and Managing Director Campbell Wilson had told employees that the airline may restore some of the flights it had cut in recent times because of the West Asia conflict. He stated that the call will be taken if easing tensions in West Asia continues to keep fuel prices lower and more airspace accessible.

Weekly flights Air India currently operates between India and West Asia, connecting 18 Indian cities directly with the region

Air India Express flights on the Kozhikode–Salalah route resume from 2 July. Services between Kozhikode and Kuwait resume from 3 July, while flights between Bengaluru and Kuwait begin from 4 July, with frequencies increasing in phases over the coming days.

The Kozhikode–Salalah service will operate twice every week. Services between Kozhikode and Kuwait will initially operate once a week from 3 July, increasing to three weekly flights from 5 July. With this resumption, Air India Express now operates from two airports in the Sultanate of Oman: Muscat International Airport and Salalah International Airport.

Air India Express has also reinstated flights between Muscat and Mangaluru starting 3 July. The airline operates about 40 weekly flights from Muscat to 7 destinations in India.

Bengaluru–Kuwait services will operate once a week from 4 July, increasing to three weekly flights from 7 July. All Air India Express flights to and from Kuwait will operate from Terminal 4 at Kuwait International Airport. With flights to 13 destinations across Bahrain, Kuwait, Oman, Qatar, Saudi Arabia and the United Arab Emirates, Air India Express is one of the leading carriers connecting India with the region.

The airline currently operates about 780 weekly flights between India and West Asia, connecting 18 Indian cities directly with the region.

Airlines shun subsidy as fuel prices fall

NEW DELHI: The ₹10,000 crore jet fuel price stabilisation programme has failed to take off, with no airline signing up for the scheme as a decline in international oil prices eroded its appeal, sources said. The scheme was voluntary, and airlines were to sign agreements with oil marketing companies to avail of the capped price of nearly ₹115 per litre. ENS

MSIL's Kharkhoda plant will be among world's largest, says Toshihiro Suzuki

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

SUZUKI Motor Corporation (SMC) President Toshihiro Suzuki on Thursday said Maruti Suzuki's (MSIL) manufacturing facility in Kharkhoda (Haryana) will be expanded from its current annual production capacity of 500,000 vehicles to 1 million units, making it one of the world's largest car plants.

Prime Minister Narendra Modi and the Prime Minister of Japan, Sanae Takaichi, virtually inaugurated the facility on Thursday during the India-Japan Joint Economic Forum in New Delhi. Modi said Japan is a key partner of India and the ties between the two nations will get stronger in the times to come.

"Our talks (with Sanae Takeuchi) today covered full range of the India-Japan Special Strategic and Global Partnership. The key issues discussed include tech, innovation, AI, defence and security, pharma and more. As far as economic linkages are concerned, our goal is in next 10 years 10 trillion Yen of Japanese investment into India and doubling number of Japanese companies in India!"

Toshihiro Suzuki of SMC said, "From current capacity of half a million units, the plant will be scaled to 1 million units, making it one of the largest car plants in the world. It is a testament to the success of India-Japan partnership and 'Make in India' initiative."

LEGAL DISPUTE

BoB pays NMC Health $600 mn to settle case

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @New Delhi

STATE-owned Bank of Baroda (BoB) has paid $600 million (₹5,700 cr) to settle long-running litigation linked to the collapse of UAE-based healthcare group NMC Health, bringing the legal disputes to end without any admission of liability. The settlement amount is nearly as large as the bank's Q4FY26 net profit of ₹5,616 crore.

In an exchange filing on Thursday, the lender said an out-of-court settlement had been reached with the joint administrators of NMC Health PLC, NMC Healthcare and NMC Holding, and the payment had been made by its Abu Dhabi branch. The litigation comprised insolvency and civil proceedings before the Abu Dhabi Global Market Court of First Instance and the High Court of Justice of England and Wales. The cases related to claims involving NMC Health entities, their joint administrators, BoB, and the group's founder Dr B.R. Shetty and ex CEO Prasanth Manghat.

As per the bank, the trial in the Abu Dhabi proceedings began on March 23, 2026, while the English proceedings had been stayed pending the outcome of the Abu Dhabi case.

Under the agreement, NMC Health PLC, NMC Healthcare, NMC Holding and their joint administrators have resolved all claims against BoB in exchange for payment of $600 million. The bank said all claims and causes of action between the parties have been settled without any admission of liability or wrongdoing, while the remaining terms of the agreement remain confidential.

BoB added that its liability in the proceedings is limited to the settlement amount. Pursuant to the agreement, the Abu Dhabi proceedings have been discontinued, while the English proceedings are in the process of being discontinued.

Two-wheeler sales momentum continues in first quarter

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

TWO-WHEELER sales saw strong growth in June 2026 and in the first quarter of FY27 after closing FY26 with record dispatches. While the top 3 players — Hero MotoCorp, HMSI and TVS Motor — reported total sales of over 15 lakh units each in Q1, Bajaj Auto and Royal Enfield also saw a double-digit growth.

The momentum continues after the two-wheeler market surpassed its FY19 pre-pandemic high in FY26. Retail sales reached 2.14 crore units in FY26, a 13.4% increase over the prior year.

Hero MotoCorp reported dispatch of 541,159 units in June 2026. In the domestic market, Hero's sales stood at 502,890 units last month, a slight fall from 525,136 units sold in June 2025. However, for the full Q1FY26, Hero dispatched 16.8 lakh units and recorded a robust 23% year-on-year growth.

This momentum, according to Hero, was driven by broad-based demand across its core, premium and scooter segment including ICE and EVs. Experts cite two-wheeler sales growth to GST reduction in September 2025, resilient rural market and growing demand electric vehicles. Electric two-wheeler registration crosses the five lakh mark for the first time in Q1 to 523,548 units, up 68% from 311,857 units in the same quarter last year.

Honda Motorcycle & Scooter India (HMSI) reported total sales of 16.11 lakh units in Q1FY26, up 17% y-o-y. Domestic sales grew 15% to 14.13 lakh units while exports surged 36% to 1.98 lakh units. In June 2026, HMSI recorded 23% jump in total sales to 5.28 lakh units.

Tsutsumu Otani, President & CEO, Honda Motorcycle & Scooter India, said, "While we remain mindful of the dynamic market environment, we will continue to focus on consistent execution of our business priorities. With our strong product portfolio and widespread dealer network, we aim to progress towards sustainable growth going forward." TVS Motor Company's two-wheeler sales grew by 27% to 15.64 Lakh units in Q1FY27 as against 12.32 Lakh units in Q1FY26.

GOAL RUSH!
American

USA's historic run continues

JOSH DUBOW

MALIK Tillman stepped up for a free kick with a bloody sock and a new right boot after being stepped on by an opponent as the United States scrambled to protect a one-goal lead, down a man in a World Cup knockout round. Tillman delivered the goal of his life, and one of the biggest ever by a US man at the World Cup, sending this American football fairytale into the round of 16.

"I've been dreaming about this game," Tillman said after scoring the final goal in a 2-0 win over Bosnia-Herzegovina on Wednesday night. "I've been dreaming about maybe taking a free kick and scoring a free kick. I've practiced this in training and I think today I showed what I can do."

Folarin Balogun put the Americans ahead in the 45th minute with his third goal of the World Cup, then was sent off in the 64th for a red card.

Star Christian Pulisic had a goal disallowed for offside in the 78th, and Tillman helped seal the win when he curled in a free kick that got over the wall and on target from just outside the box in the 82nd. The ball went off diving goalkeeper Nikola Vasilj's right hand and in despite the pain in Tillman's bloody right foot from being stepped on.

Balogun dominated the first half and scored in the 45th minute. The Americans had to scramble after his foul for awkwardly stepping on Tarik Muharemovic and preserved the shutout despite playing shorthanded for more than 30 minutes. Pochettino became the first US coach with three World Cup victories, and the Americans gained just their second World Cup knockout round win. They made it to the semifinals in the first tournament in 1930 by winning their group and won a round of 16 matchup against Mexico in 2002. AP

Belgium come back from the dead to beat Senegal

Europeans fight back from two-goal deficit to enter Round of 16

ANDREW DESTIN

BELGIUM overturned a two-goal deficit and scored from the penalty spot deep into extra time to beat Senegal 3-2 on Wednesday in the biggest comeback of the World Cup so far.

Senegal held a 2-0 lead with just 5 minutes of regulation time remaining but late goals by Romelu Lukaku and Youri Tielemans pushed the round of 32 match into extra time.

Tielemans completed Belgium's comeback by converting a penalty in the 125th minute of the game – the latest goal in World Cup history.

"Being part of this comeback is a proud moment because I scored the last two goals to give the team the win today. I'm very proud of that to be able to help the team to score goals and bring us over the line," Tielemans said.

He was fouled with only seconds to go and with a penalty shootout looming, and the referee awarded the spot kick after a video review, ignoring protests from the Senegal team.

"I do not want to interpret the decision. We all have different interpretations when it comes to awarding a penalty," Senegal coach Pape Thiaw said. "I'd rather not comment, not interpreting the referee's decision."

The win for Belgium marked the second time in the last 11 World Cups that a team trailed by two or more goals in the knockout round and advanced. Belgium also did so in a 3-2 victory over Japan in the round of 16 at the 2018 tournament.

"Senegal deserved to win," Belgium coach Rudi Garcia said. "But, I am happy it was us."

Many of the key players from the Belgium team that finished in third place in Russia in 2018 were instrumental to Wednesday's victory. Lukaku, who leads his nation in goals scored, came off the bench to get Belgium back into the match by scoring in the 86th minute, setting the scene for Tielemans to force extra time. AP

The chess connect at the FIFA World Cup

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN

LAST weekend, Neymar posted a story of Matheus Cunha playing online chess. In the Spanish football camp, Martin Zubimendi, Dani Olmo and Unai Simon, three avid chess players within the group, may or may not have played a quick series among themselves. In the England camp, Eberechi Eze, an avid chess buff and a player who has appeared in a commercial alongside Magnus Carlsen, may have sneaked a few games of online chess. His captain, Harry Kane, rated 1200 on chess.com, may have done something similar.

Egypt, preparing for their first ever knockout game at the World Cup, has one of the most famous recreational chess players in their ranks: Mo Salah. In the Norwegian camp, there are both players (Martin Odegaard) and investors (Erling Haaland). The trend, then, is hard to miss. By trade, they are all footballers. But when the curtains close and the lights are switched off and they are in their rooms, most of them flip out their phones for a game — or ten — of online chess. Why? There is of course an element of fun — a game of blitz chess against a stranger on the internet is a legitimate way of de-stressing — but there's also the element of looking at the board game as a means to become better at football. It sounds hipsterish but there are a few transferable properties between a physical sport like football and a game like chess. Controlling the central is a key element. It also helps in keeping up the concentration levels.

One of the midfielders very good at controlling the flow of the game is Zubimendi. When he was 12, he had to pick a choice. Football or chess. Inigo Argandona, an IM who used to coach the Spaniard in the board game when he was a kid, tells the story. "He won a regional event," he tells this daily. "He played chess from when he was six. In fact, he even refused to play the Basque regional tournament because there was also a football tournament and he picked football." When a 12-year-old Zubimendi told Argandona that his choice was football, the coach warned him. "Becoming a professional footballer is close to impossible," he chuckles. "But giving up chess was very clearly the best move for him."

Won't play again under current coaches: Gueye

AGENCIES @ Seattle

AFTER Senegal blew a late lead against Belgium to go out of the World Cup, midfielder Pape Gueye said he would not play for the team while the coaching staff stays. Senegal led 2-0 after 85 minutes in the round of 32 game but gave up two goals before the 90th minute and ended up losing 3-2 to a penalty awarded deep in extra time. Gueye posted on Instagram that "as long as it's this technical staff in place, I will take a break from the national team."

The 27-year-old Villarreal player, who scored two goals in Senegal's 5-0 group-stage win over Iraq, did not mention coach Pape Thiaw. A tough year for Senegal already saw its Africa Cup of Nations title won in January — on Gueye's extra-time goal against Morocco — overturned in an unprecedented appeal case. Then, Thiaw took his team off the field after host nation Morocco was awarded a stoppage-time penalty when the score was 0-0. Play resumed after a 15-minute delay and Morocco's penalty was saved. When Morocco appealed post-game disciplinary rulings, judges for the Confederation of African Football ruled Senegal should default the game and suspended Thiaw for five games in the next edition of the competition.

Rohit hopes to throw 87m consistently

CHANDRA PRABHU @Chennai

BEFORE the National inter-state senior athletics championships in Bhubaneswar, javelin thrower Rohit Yadav was walking on thin ice. With the likes of Sachin Yadav, Yashvir Singh and Kishore Jena already entering the above-85m club, it was do-or-die event for the athlete from East Uttar Pradesh. "I saw both Sachin and Yash Vir throw around 82-83 metres. I was thinking, I should do much better, considering the disappointment in the Federation Cup in Ranchi," he recalled the men's javelin throw final in a virtual interaction to this daily.

In his sixth and final attempt, Yadav launched the javelin high into the night sky in Bhubaneswar, and saw it land beyond the 85-metre mark. As '87.05m' was displayed on the screen, Rohit finally had his moment. That throw put him second in this year's world standings behind Sri Lankan Rumesh Tharanga Pathirage's 92.62m, as Rohit's confidence increased in leaps and bounds, well ahead of big ticket events like the Commonwealth Games in Glasgow and the Asian Games in Japan.

Rohit Yadav

The lineup Rohit will be a part of in Glasgow will be competitive. In addition to Pathirage, multiple Olympic medallist Neeraj Chopra, Keshorn Walcott and defending Commonwealth Games champion from Pakistan Arshad Nadeem are expected to take part. As he prepares to leave for Poland for AFI's preparatory camp, he revealed his objectives ahead of the quadrennial event. "Neeraj has won all the medals with below 90-metre throws. So, it's not like he will do it in the 90s. It depends on how the body feels that day. I keep in mind that we will only do what we have done, which is to keep throwing in the 87m range whether I get a medal or not," he said.

His season best, before his new personal best throw hovered around 82-83 metres. That way, his 87.05m throw in a way has realised his potential. While that throw has made him feel better, Rohit said that this is just the start. "I have a feeling that I will do better in the future. There are two major competitions (CWG and Asian Games) this year. I will do well in one of them," he added.

RED FLAGS

WHY THE CENTRE HAS ASKED WHATSAPP TO PUT ITS USERNAME FEATURE ON HOLD

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

THE Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY) has issued a notice to Meta-owned instant messaging platform WhatsApp over its proposed username feature.

According to government sources, the Mark Zuckerberg-owned platform has been given three days to furnish a detailed explanation on the new feature and directed not to roll out the feature until consultations on the matter are over.

WhatsApp has described the feature as a privacy enhancement that will allow users to start conversations without sharing their phone numbers. However, there are concerns that it could also make impersonation and cyber fraud easier.

What is the username feature?

According to WhatsApp, users will be able to claim a unique username later this year instead of sharing their phone number while initiating a conversation. It will allow WhatsApp users to connect with others without revealing their mobile numbers. Once the feature is rolled out, users can share their username instead of phone number while starting a new conversation.

The feature is similar to Telegram, where users connect through usernames instead of phone numbers. According to the company, it adds another layer of privacy by allowing users to communicate without revealing their mobile numbers.

"To control who can message you, you can set up a 'username key', so that anyone messaging you for the very first time via your username will need the key to reach you, adding one more layer of protection for your account. You can change the key at any time," the company said.

Why has the government raised concerns?

Officials fear fraudsters could create usernames similar to those of public figures, businesses and government entities to mislead users. They also believe users may find it harder to verify identities once phone numbers are hidden, increasing the risk of impersonation and cyber fraud.

What are experts saying?

The concerns have also been echoed by users and cybersecurity experts, who believe the feature could create new opportunities for cyber fraud if adequate safeguards are not put in place.

Entrepreneur Ankur Warikoo warned that the feature could become "a disaster" if WhatsApp fails to put adequate safeguards in place.

He argued that impersonation could become significantly easier, with scammers creating usernames closely resembling those of public figures to solicit money or deceive users.

He also pointed out that many users do not fully understand verification badges, and unlike the current system, victims may no longer be able to verify someone's identity by calling the associated phone number if only a username is visible.

Echoing similar concerns, Jasveer Singh, co-founder and CEO of Knot Dating, said the feature immediately reminded him of Telegram, where anyone can contact users without knowing their phone number.

Abilash Soundararajan, founder & CEO of PrivaSapien, said the feature improves privacy by allowing users to communicate without revealing their mobile numbers. According to him, it works on pseudonymization through tokenization, where a username is mapped to a user's phone number and protected through a key.

According to Nikhil Narendran, partner at Trilegal, the feature is a positive step from a privacy-by-design perspective as it reduces the unnecessary disclosure of phone numbers. At the same time, it allows users to communicate without exposing their mobile numbers, which have increasingly become an identifier linked across multiple services. However, he warned that username squatting, impersonation through lookalike usernames, and disputes over well-known names and brands are likely to become important issues.

"While it appears that there will be no public directory for discovering usernames, questions remain about how effectively it will deal with squatting, trademark claims and fraudulent accounts in practice. We have seen similar issues with domain names, websites and social media handles, where bad actors often register deceptively similar names to impersonate individuals and organisations. Meta may reserve usernames for celebrities, government bodies and verified entities, but whether that will be sufficient or scalable remains to be seen," he added. He also pointed out that it will be interesting to see how Meta approaches identity across its ecosystem. For instance, whether users will be able to retain a consistent username across Facebook, Instagram and WhatsApp, how username conflicts will be resolved, and whether premium or verified tiers influence access to desirable usernames.

What has WhatsApp said?

According to a WhatsApp spokesperson, the company has announced the option for people to reserve their preferred username on WhatsApp. The feature is not yet live and will roll out gradually later this year.

To address concerns over impersonation, the company said it has reserved the highest-profile names—including public figures, government entities, celebrities and verified Meta accounts—so they can only be claimed by their legitimate owners. It has also reserved lookalike versions of these names.

The company said users will still require a phone number to use WhatsApp and that it has built multiple safeguards into the username feature to prevent scams and impersonation. Other users will need to know the exact username to initiate a conversation, limits will be placed on how many new people an account can contact, repeated attempts to guess a user's username key will be blocked, and systems have been put in place to detect and remove activities that show common impersonation and abuse patterns. "When the feature becomes available and someone sends you a message for the first time via your username, we will show you if they're a new account, if they're your contact, if you have groups in common, and if they're based in a different country, so you can decide whether to respond," said the platform.

What Dell's PowerStore Elite means for enterprise storage

PADMINI DHRUVARAJ
@ Bengaluru

DELL Technologies has introduced its PowerStore Elite enterprise storage platform in India, adding to a growing range of systems designed to support artificial intelligence (AI), large data workloads and cyber security. The launch reflects a wider shift in the storage market, where vendors are moving beyond simply offering more capacity and are instead focusing on performance, automation and resilience.

Enterprise storage systems form the backbone of an organisation's IT infrastructure. They store and manage data used by applications, databases and virtual machines. As businesses deploy AI tools, they need storage platforms that can process large amounts of information quickly while ensuring that critical data remains available and protected.

PowerStore Elite is Dell's latest all-flash storage platform. According to the company, it offers higher performance and greater storage density than the previous generation. It also supports modular upgrades, allowing customers to expand capacity or improve performance without replacing the entire system. Dell has said the platform is designed for AI workloads, virtualised environments and business-critical applications. The launch comes as enterprise storage is becoming more software-driven. Organisations are looking for systems that can automate routine management tasks, reduce downtime and improve protection against ransomware attacks. Storage vendors are also adding tools that help customers monitor performance and manage data more efficiently across on-premise and cloud environments.

Dell is not the only company targeting this market. NetApp, Pure Storage, Hewlett Packard Enterprise and IBM have all updated their enterprise storage portfolios over the past year with products aimed at AI deployments.

Another factor is the rapid growth in enterprise data. AI models require access to large volumes of structured and unstructured data for training and inference. At the same time, sectors such as banking, healthcare and government are facing stricter needs on where data is stored and how it is protected. This has increased interest in modern on-premise storage alongside public cloud services.

Industry analysts have also pointed to a change in how organisations buy storage. Instead of replacing systems every few years, businesses increasingly prefer platforms that can be upgraded over time, allowing them to add performance or capacity as workloads grow. Vendors have responded by designing systems that rely more on software updates and modular hardware than full hardware refreshes.
